W. C. T. U. PLANS TO RAISE $1,000,000 FUND BY MARCH

Americanization and World Prohibition Two Purposes for Which Money Is Sought —More Members Wanted.

SUFFRAGE DIVISION TO BE DISCONTINUED

Resolution Adopted Urges Libraries to Remove From Shelves Books Opposing Prohibition.

Plans for raising a $1,000,000 fund by next March, and for increasing the membership of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union from 500,000 to 1,000,000 before 1924, were discussed at this morning's session of the W. C. T. U. national convention in the Odeon, and at a preliminary meeting of the Executive Committee at Hotel Statler. The convention will continue through Thursday evening.

The convention passed a resolution requesting librarians, superintendents and governing boards of public libraries to remove from the libraries all books favoring alcohol and opposed to national prohibition. The reason stated was that prohibition has been made a part of the national Constitution. Mrs. Martha M. Allen, a New York delegate, introduced the resolution.

Nation to Be Zoned.

The $1,000,000 fund, it was announced, is for Americanization, child welfare and world prohibition, as well as education, publicity, women in industry and scientific instruction in high schools. The United States is to be divided into five regions, for the raising of the fund and the strengthening of state and local organizations.

Discontinuance of the work of the suffrage bureau of the national organization was announced today, the reason being that the suffrage movement was considered to have won, and that suffrage, unlike prohibition, will enforce itself. The union will continue to give its attention to women's work in politics, it was stated.

Training School Planned.

Plans for a training school for W. C. T. U. workers, in Evanston, Ill., and for an Americanization establishment in New York, were announced.

Miss Cora F. Stoddard, director of the Bureau of Scientific Temperance Investigation, made a speech in the course of which she said:

"We must go after the women as well as the men. When I was in Vermont this summer I was surprised at the number of women who are making wine and other intoxicants out of elderberries, dandelion, cherries and other fruits and plants. We must keep up our campaign against beer and wine as well as against whisky. A great deal of froth has been whipped up by the breweries, but there is a residuum of solid belief that beer is not harmful. We must teach the fundamental truth that fermented liquor contains the same kind of alcohol as distilled liquor. God has sent us scientific men to meet all anti-prohibition arguments."

Mrs. Lena Lowe Yost, representative of the organization in Washington, gave an outline of the history of prohibition legislation in the last 20 years.

There was a warm greeting at the meeting for Mrs. H. H. Wagoner of 4187 Lindell boulevard, who is 86 years old and who was a member of the first W. C. T. U. chapter organized in St. Louis. She did not make a speech but in response to calls she stood up while the delegates cheered in her honor.

Some delegates, in purchasing postcards at stores here, selected those picturing St. Louis breweries to send to friends as "relics of a dark past."

Thirty-six women were scheduled as speakers on the morning program, 24 of these bein 2-minute speakers. Other speeches and reports were brief. The name of Mrs. William Jennings Bryan appeared in the list of 2-minute speakers, but she was not present, having sent her regrets to Miss Anna A. Gordon, national president.

Women in White Appear.

The publishing house and the Union Signal, national organ of the W. C. T. U., formed the subject of several reports. Miss Julia Freeman Deane, editor of the Signal, introduced a procession of women in white, carrying the flags of 24 foreign countries in which the paper circulates.

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp of Kentucky, speaking on "Our Literature," touched on the subject of tobacco, saying: "Tobacco fills the pores of the mouth, so that water does not satisfy." She urged women voters to give especial attention to the election of judges.

Miss Ellen M. Stone of Chelsea, Mass., the American missionary who was kidnaped by Macedonian ban-

EIGHT STOLEN AUTOS, OWNERS UNKNOWN, ARE HELD BY POLICE

Five Cars Were Found in Garage and Shop of Man Sentenced to Penitentiary.

Detectives are trying to trace the ownership of five automobiles found in the garage of Edward Linders, 5654 Theodosia avenue, and in his repair shop at 6605 Olive street road, and three other automobiles taken from persons who had purchased them from employes of Linders. The automobiles are at police headquarters.

Linders was convicted last week of stealing an automobile and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The factory numbers on the automobiles found at Linders' shop and garage had been chiseled away, policemen say, and one of the machines bore a Michigan license.

Three other automobiles were seized at the homes of Patrolman Charles Schergens, 1823 Cora avenue; William J. Hall, a music teacher, 5660 Kingsbury boulevard, and Fred Koenig, 4646 West Florissant avenue. Holtzkamp said that the cars had been stolen, but that the men who had purchased them were not aware of the fact.

MAN CHARGED WITH USING MOTORBOAT TO HUNT DUCKS

Held for Federal Grand Jury Under $1000 Bond; Accured of Conducting St. Louis Parties.

Levi B. Brock was held by the United States Commissioner today for the Federal grand jury under $1000 bond, on a charge of using a motorboat to hunt wild ducks on the Missouri River, in violation of the Federal game law.

A raid was made on Brock's establishment at Catfish Island, 20 miles west of St. Louis, by Federal Game Warden Harry Barmeier and his deputy, W. W. Shock. They found three motorboats. Barmeier said he had information that Brock has been conducting motorboat hunting parties for St. Louisans at so much per hour. Other arrests will be made, Barmeier said.

It is a violation of the Federal game laws to shoot ducks from any kind of a power boat.

PENROSE PROMISES TO BOOST ST. LOUIS FOR G. O. P. MEETING

Schmoll and Babler Return From Capital With Pledges of Convention Support From Republican Leaders.

JOHNSON SAYS HE FAVORS THIS CITY

Senators Harding and Poindexter Also Approve Plan and Wood Faction Is Said to Oppose Chicago.

Chairman Schmoll of the Republican City Committee and Jacob L. Babler, Republican National Committeemen from Missouri, returned today from Washington with the announcement that they had obtained promises from Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania and several others who usually control Republican national politics that they would support St. Louis for the 1920 national convention.

Schmoll said that they talked with many Republican leaders, including members of the National Committee and Senators, and that they were convinced that St. Louis had an excellent chance to get the convention.

"Senator Penrose, a member of the National Committee, told us not only that he favored St. Louis for the convention, but also that he would aid us in our campaign by soliciting other members of the committee to vote for St. Louis," Schmoll said. "He only asked two or three questions. He wanted to know if St. Louis could take care of the crowd that would attend the convention. When we told him the city had ample hotel facilities at moderate rates he was satisfied and told us he would help us.

Johnson Also Favorable.

"Senator Johnson, who is considered a candidate, also said he favored St. Louis for the convention, as did Senator Poindexter and Senator Harding. Neither Johnson, Poindexter nor Harding is a member of the committee, but each is known to have much influence with the member from his State.

"Chicago has been claiming that it had 29 votes pledged, but we have discovered that the Chicago pledge list contains the names of a number of members of the committee who told us positively that they were not pledged to Chicago and that they would vote for St. Louis.

The St. Louis campaign is being conducted along two lines. One is that St. Louis will pay the expenses of the convention up to $25,000 and will guarantee ample hotel accommodations at moderate rates. The other is to impress upon the committee the unfairness of taking the convention to a State which has a candidate for the nomination for President.

Wood Faction for St. Louis.

The supporters of Gen. Wood have been won over to St. Louis by this argument, holding that it would be inimical to Wood's interest to have the convention in Chicago where the convention auditorium would be packed with Illinois boosters for Gov. Lowden.

Schmoll also said that Senator

PLANS BEING MADE TO CONSERVE COAL IN THIS SECTION

Regional Fuel Committee Prepares for Emergency Impending if Miners Do Not Return in Few Days.

ONLY THREE WEEKS' SUPPLY IN COUNTRY

First Step Would Be Curtailment in Street Lighting and Display Signs — Power Plants Already Have Closed.

The Regional Fuel Committee, which apportions the distribution of coal in the Southwestern railroad region, including St. Louis, began today making plans for fuel conservation which the committee believes will be absolutely essential in the event the striking coal miners do not return to the mines within a few days. The committee announced that there is available only about three weeks' supply of coal in the United States.

If conservation measures become necessary the first step taken will be the curtailment of gas and electric street lighting and electric display signs.

Director of Public Utilities Hooke was called before the committee and informed that it may become necessary to reduce the number of street lights. He was asked to make a survey of the situation and see what he could do, if the situation is not relieved, in regard to conserving the supply of coal used for street lighting purposes. The committee also announced that it would direct owners of electric signs to prepare for an order restricting the use of coal for such purposes.

May Shut Off Street Lights.

Hooke said that if necessary he will adopt the course followed during the fuel conservation period of the war, when 991 of the street gas lamps and 113 of the 500 electric arc lamps were shut off. This, he said, would entail danger of increasing street accidents.

Twenty-six Southern Illinois towns and Scott Field aviation camp, all in the heart of the coal fields, probably will be without electric light after tomorrow night, as a result of the strike of coal miners, which is continuing just as it was before the order was issued to rescind it.

The auxiliary power house of the Illinois Traction Co. (McKinley system) at Edwardsville, was closed this morning, and the lighting systems of Edwardsville, Wood River and Glen Carbon were switched onto the main power house at Venice, which still has a two weeks' coal supply. It was the first time the plant has been closed in 10 years.

The 26 towns threatened with loss of electric lights are supplied from the Collinsville and Hillsboro plants of the Southern Illinois Light and Power Co. The Collinsville plant was closed yesterday, and today has only enough coal to last until tomorrow night. Supt. W. E. Playter said. The Fuel Committee at Terre Haute, Ind., has promised to send some coal tomorrow.

Plan to Protect Industries.

Officials said that unless the consignment is larger than is expected, the lights will be cut off, in order to have power left for necessary industries. Similarly, McKinley System officials said that they proposed, unless the strike ends in a few days, to cut off the municipal lighting of several towns throughout Illinois, in order to keep the interurban lines and industries operating.

In addition to Collinsville and Hillsboro, the towns supplied by the Southern Illinois Light and Power Co. are: Marine, Troy, St. Jacob, Pierron, Pocahontas, Greenville, Donnellson, Pana, O'Fallon, Litchfield, Gillespie, Formosa, Benld, Sawyerville, Butler, Harvard, Raymond, Morrisonville, Palmer, Witt, Irving, Coffeen, Fillmore and Ramsey.

A majority of these towns are virtually mining camps themselves, but are as completely severed from their fuel supply as if they were not near the mines.

Miners Remain Firm.

The St. Clair County Gas and Electric Co., which supplies East St. Louis, Belleville and surrounding villages, has a considerable supply of coal on hand, it was stated. The McKinley system has enough in its water storage pits at Riverton and Peoria, and at Worden, to last two weeks, officials said.

There was no indication today that the miners would return to work until a satisfactory scale is negotiated. The local union at Benld, in Madison County, adopted resolutions condemning President Lewis and Secretary Green for issuing the rescinding order, and asked them to resign.

Meetings of the locals at Belleville will be held every night this week, for the first time since the rescinding order was received. Some may take ballots on the question of returning to work.

GLASS TO ACCEPT SENATORSHIP AT REQUEST OF PRESIDENT

Wilson Advises Secretary of Treasury to Take Place as Successor to Martin of Virginia.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—At the request of President Wilson, Secretary Glass will accept the appointment as Senator from Virginia to succeed the late Senator Thomas S. Martin, it was announced today at the White House.

After receiving the appointment from Gov. Davis of Virginia, Glass asked the President what his wishes were and Mr. Wilson replied he would like Glass to accept.

Secretary Glass has consulted with members of the Senate who told him there was no particular need for him to take the oath as Senator for a week or more. Meantime he will continue to serve as head of the Treasury Department.

At the White House it was said no successor to Glass has been decided upon and that the President's mind is open. The name of Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, was added today to the list of those being discussed as probable successors.

STRIKING EMBALMERS PLAN THEIR OWN UNDERTAKING FIRM

President of Union Says Company Will Be Established if Employers Do Not Grant Demands.

G. Breuchand of 4155 Maffitt avenue, president of the Embalmers' Union, whose members went on strike Saturday midnight for recognition of the union and increased wages, stated today that the strikers would take steps to establish an independent union undertaking company unless the undertakers recognized the union by Wednesday night.

Breuchard said the president of a local livery company, which has 30 limousines and seven hearses, had proposed such a move and had promised the union to finance it.

Breuchand said the strikers were standing firm today, and would meet this evening to discuss the plan proposed by the livery company. The undertakers also will meet this evening. Strikers are demanding $35 a week for seven days, 75 cents an hour for overtime, except on death calls, and recognition of the union.

William S. Schumacher, an undertaker at 3013 Meramec street, president of the Mound City Livery and Undertakers' Association, said the employers were willing to pay $30 a week and overtime, but would not recognize the union and closed shop principle.

FIVE KILLED AND 25 INJURED IN EXPLOSION AT HAYS, KAN.

Gasoline Tank Set Off by Backfiring of Motor Car and Eight Buildings Catch Fire.

By the Associated Press.

HAYS, Kan., Nov. 17.—Five persons were killed and more than 25 injured when a tank of gasoline exploded at a filling station here today. Seven buildings and the Farmers' Elevator caught fire and burned, but the fire was soon gotten under control with the aid of firemen from nearby towns.

The fire at the oil station was caused by the backfiring of a motor car, according to the most authentic information obtainable. In a few minutes the fire was raging around the storage tanks. With a terrific roar a large gasoline container exploded. The tank, 10 feet in diameter and 16 feet long, soared into the air and traveled two blocks north where it fell on a house.

A kerosene tank which stood within a few feet of the gasoline container, exploded almost at the same time. It was thrown more than a hundred feet from its base.

After the explosions five persons who had been standing nearby, were found dead, and 25 others burned or injured.

WHISKY HERE BEING RE-GAUGED FOR RELEASE IF BAN IS LIFTED

200,000 Gallons Are Stored in Old Brewery Building at Boyle and Duncan Avenues.

United States gaugers today began regauging large quantities of whisky held in bond in St. Louis warehouses, so that all would be in readiness to collect the tax and release the whisky for sale in the open market if the war-time prohibition ban should be lifted.

One large lot of whisky held in bond here is 200,000 gallons stored in the old Mutual Brewery buildings at Boyle and Duncan avenues. This plant is now used as a warehouse by D. E. McCaskill, a wholesale liquor dealer of St. Louis, who has rented space in the warehouse to other whisky dealers. It was said today the whisky had been brought in before July from Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois because St. Louis was regarded as a convenient central point from which to distribute it on the lifting of the ban.

Butter 70c Wholesale in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Highest prices ever known for butter were reached in Chicago today, 70 cents a pound for creamery extra, wholesale. This same grade never went above 67½ cents during the period of active hostilities of the World War. Receipts of butter here of late have been much curtailed as compared with a month ago.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE WILL REJECT TREATY IF LODGE RESERVATIONS ARE PASSED

COMPROMISE WILL END TREATY FIGHT, VIEW IN CAPITAL

Correspondent Says Ratifying Resolution When Adopted Will Be Satisfactory to Other Nations.

NEEDED TWO-THIRDS WILL GIVE SUPPORT

President's Warning Against Lodge Reservations Expected to Have Needed Effect on Senators.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1919.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Senate of the United States is going to ratify the peace treaty and the reservations that are attached are going to be accepted not only by President Wilson, but by the foreign governments associated with us in the war. That doesn't mean that the Lodge resolution now pending before the Senate with its series of reservations is going to be adopted or that Senator Hitchcock's resolution to ratify with a few reservations that do not meet the flaws that have been pointed out in the treaty during the Senate debate is to be finally approved, but that a new ratifying resolution, a compromise, will be adopted.

The foregoing prediction is based partly on a knowledge of what the parliamentary tactics of both sides contemplate and partly on a conviction that there are at least 65 Senators, Republicans and Democrats—more than the necessary two-thirds—who honestly do not wish to see the treaty of peace killed and new negotiations opened with Germany.

All sorts of fears and apprehensions have been running up and down the backs of supporters of the treaty and league of nations that unless the pending Lodge resolution were given a two-thirds vote, the pact itself would be dead as a door nail, and that the responsibility for killing it would be on the 33 Democrats who failed to vote for Mr. Lodge's reservations to the treaty.

Jockeying for Position.

Both sides are doing a considerable amount of jockeying for position. The Republicans may be divided into two classes—those who avowedly want the treaty killed and those who say they want it ratified, but insist that their ratifying resolutions do not mean destruction of the pact. The Democrats differ with the latter class, but what is the opinion of one Senator as against another as to what constitutes the death of any piece of legislation when parliamentary maneuvers galore are in existence to enable the Senate to resurrect anything that is killed? Only the statement of foreign governments that they would not accept the Lodge reservations would convince a number of the Republicans that to insist on these reservations means the complete defeat of the treaty of Versailles. Possibly the President himself might make a statement declaring the Lodge resolution if adopted by the Senate constitutes a rejection of the treaty. (Note—The President made such a statement to Senator Hitchcock today). That would carry conviction with many Senators of the mild reservationist type, but it would not be as effective as a statement from the foreign governments.

Great Britain and France and Italy have demonstrated through their inspired press that they did not approve of the Lodge reservations and cannot accept them. It is doubtful, however, whether the President will subject them to the embarrassment of rejecting the Lodge reservations for the simple reason that Mr. Wilson himself can exercise his constitutional discretion to say whether a treaty has in fact been ratified, rejected or amended.

Democrats Support Reservations.

The situation may seem a bit tangled and confused to the outsider, but it is the essence of simplicity in the light of senatorial custom and habit as one observes it over a period of years. Senators say extreme things, picture all sorts of dire consequences if their point of view isn't accepted, and then turn around and agree to "a compromise" which is in some cases nothing more than the viewpoint of their opponents with a different phraseology.

But the compromise on the peace

Only Result Has Been to "Harden Our Lines," Says Senator Lodge

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.

THE President's decision to "pocket" the peace treaty if it is ratified with the Lodge reservations drew from Republican leaders today emphatic statements that there would be no compromise and that their original program of procedure would be adhered to.

"The only result has been to harden our lines," said Senator Lodge.

It was the view of the Republican leaders that the Senate probably would reach a deadlock and they said if the treaty was withdrawn or failed the situation would be chargeable to the administration.

PRESIDENT TAKEN OUTDOORS, SITTING IN WHEELED CHAIR

Wilson Basks in Sunshine on Lawn for First Time Since Return From Western Trip.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson was taken downstairs in a wheel chair today and rolled out on the White House lawn near the south portico, where he basked in the sunshine for a short time. This was the first time he had left the White House since his return from the Western tour, during which he was taken ill.

Those who saw the President said he seemed bright and cheerful and apparently was "full of fight" as the result of the Senate action on the peace treaty.

CROWN PRINCE OF RUMANIA REJOINS MORGANATIC WIFE

Reunion Follows Enforced Separation; Renounced Rights to Throne, Took Subordinate Place in Army.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 17.—King Ferdinand and Queen Marie have been much disturbed by the fact that Crown Prince Charles has rejoined Miss Zyzis Lambrino, whom he married morganatically in 1918 and from whom he was forced by his parents to obtain a separation soon afterward. Besides renouncing his rights to the throne, he has accepted a subordinate position in the army. The pair are familiar figures on the boulevards of Bucharest.

"Youth and love, I suppose, will have their way in spite of Kings and Queens," said Queen Marie sadly. "The whole affair has been a great grief to the King and myself."

KANSAS TO ASK FOR RECEIVERS FOR MINES TO FORCE DIGGING

Governor Hopes Proceedings Will Bring Resumption of Work in the State.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 17.—Receivership proceedings will be started at once by the Attorney-General in the State Supreme Court against the coal mine operators of Kansas, it was announced by Gov. Allen today.

By this move it is expected operation of the mines idle since Nov. 1 on account of the strike will be resumed.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—George H. Phelps, Findlay, lawyer, today asked the Ohio Supreme Court to direct Attorney-General Price to begin ouster proceedings against Ohio coal mining companies organized under the laws of Ohio for failure to operate their mines and to have receivers appointed for them.

BANK ROBBERS ESCAPE FROM POSSE NEAR PALMYRA, ILL.

Outlaws Fire on Pursuers and Escape From Thicket With Hundreds of Men Pursuing Them.

By the Associated Press.

PALMYRA, Ill., Nov. 17.—Citizens aroused by Charles Solomon, who discovered two robbers in the bank here early today, formed a posse, pursued the robbers woh had escaped in an auto and surrounded them in a thicket six miles east of the town. The robbers then escaped from the thicket after firing upon their pursuers. The posse, numbering about 600, continued the pursuit.

CONSUMERS ON MILK STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Milk drivers whose recent threat of a strike won them an increase of pay and sent milk prices up, found "a consumer strike" in progress in many parts of New York this morning when they made their early morning deliveries.

Hanging on doors of many homes and apartments were signs reading "Milk strike—No milk wanted here until Thursday." The strikers have pledged themselves to abstain from the use of milk on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays of every week until the price of that commodity is lowered.

TELLS HITCHCOCK THE COMMITTEE'S PROGRAM WOULD NULLIFY PACT

Democratic Leader Calls at White House and Says His Program of Voting Against Resolution Containing Republican Program Will Be Carried Out.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD CONFERENCE AT ONCE

Wilson Expected to Withdraw Treaty, if Necessary —Debate Resumed in Senate With Prospect of Vote Tomorrow or Wednesday.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson will pocket the peace treaty if it contains the Lodge reservations, he told Senator Hitchcock at a conference today at the White House.

"The President has read and considered the Lodge reservations," Senator Hitchcock said, "and he considers them a nullification of the treaty and utterly impossible."

Will Carry Out Program.

The program outlined by Senator Hitchcock after he had seen President Wilson last week will be carried through in the Senate, Hitchcock said. This contemplated defeat of the ratification resolution, with the Lodge reservations attached, and the offering of a resolution for ratification without reservations. With the defeat of this resolution, a deadlock would follow and compromise sought. Senator Hitchcock was with the President for an hour today.

"I find the President is very much improved since I saw him last," the Senator said on leaving the White House. "He looks better, talks better and is much more aggressive. I find that he has read and considered the Lodge reservations and that he considers them a nullification of the treaty and utterly impossible."

"Did the President tell you what his course would be in the event the Lodge reservations are accepted by the Senate?" he was asked.

"The President will pocket the treaty," was the reply.

"Even if reservation 15 (the Reed reservation) is stricken out?"

"Yes. That would make no difference in the President's decision."

Senator Hitchcock did not interpret the President's stand to mean that the treaty was dead, declaring he still believed a compromise reservation program could be worked out.

The preamble of the committee resolution requiring that the Senate reservations must be accepted by three of the other great Powers was said by the Democratic leader to be particularly objectionable to the President, who regarded it, he declared, as "killing the treaty absolutely."

He indicated also that the Article 10 reservation was entirely unacceptable to Mr. Wilson, but said the executive might be willing to accept some of the other proposals on the committee program.

Democrats Will Confer.

As soon as he left the White House Senator Hitchcock began plans for a conference of Democratic friends of the treaty. It was said it might be held tonight. The plan at first had been to have the mild reservation Republicans in the conference, but it is understood they informed the Democrats they were unwilling to negotiate until the committee program had come to a vote.

Senator Hitchcock predicted that the mild group would give the Democrats enough support to uphold the Vice President in ruling that further ratification resolutions are in order, thus opening the door for a compromise.

Hitchcock did not go into details as to the exact stage at which the President might intervene in the treaty unless the Democratic conference developed an agreement to vote down ratification.

If the committee resolution is defeated, however, it is expected Mr. Wilson will let the opposing groups work out whatever compromise they can and will not interfere unless he finds withdrawal necessary to prevent ratification with reservations which are unacceptable.

One of the subjects understood to have been discussed at the White House conference was the substitute reservations proposed by Senator Hitchcock. The Democratic leader indicated that the President had made no objection to them.

Hitchcock said he did not discuss with the President the proposal of Republican leaders to pass a resolution in case the treaty fails, declaring the war at an end. It is well understood, however, that the administration generally would look with disfavor at such a manner of bringing a peace status.

Senate Resumes Debate.

Immediately after convening today the Senate plunged into consideration of the two pending reservations. Senator Poindexter, Republican, of Washington, asked for brief time to discuss anti-radical legislation, but Senator La Follette insisted that the treaty had right of way and was sustained.

Only two hours out of the 96-hour maximum under the cloture rule had been concluded when debate began today. The reservation declaring the United States declines to accept any interest in or responsibility for the German overseas possessions was opposed by Senators Townsend, Michigan, and New, Indiana, Republicans. Senator New said the United States might secure valuable interests in the Pacific Island possessions of Germany.

Supporting the reservation, Senator Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, said the secret treaty between Japan and Great Britain and France had given the Pacific Island possessions to Japan without the reservation and that consequently the United States would become merely a trustee for Japan.

Two of the committee reservations remained to be acted on at the beginning of today's session. They related to the German colonies and to certain vital interests of the United States which would be excluded from league action. Many reservations by individual Senators are to be considered after completion of the committee program, but with cloture in effect it was thought a final vote would not be long delayed. Most Senators predicted it would be reached tomorrow or Wednesday.

The final measure on the committee program is a blanket reservation by which this country would decline to submit to the league's decision any question it considered to involve national rights and interests. Some of the mild reservation group do not favor it, and predict its defeat.

In a statement issued last night the Executive Committee of the League to Enforce Peace declared that if such a reservation were adopted it would be "the clear duty of every Senator who sincerely believes in a league of nations to vote against ratification.

House to Transact No Business After Today.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—No business will be transacted by the House after today, Republican Leader Mondell said, adding that the House probably would formally adjourn tomorrow, following the passage today of the Esch railroad bill and a resolution extending Government control over dye imports until Jan. 15.

Preamble Main Point Discussed at Peace Conference.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The news of the adoption by the United States Senate of 10 reservations to the German peace treaty was received with great interest in peace conference circles. The point apparently being most discussed by the delegates is whether the Senate will ultimately insist upon the reservations being formally approved by the other Governments as now specified in the preamble. In French circles the indications are that the French Government is not prepared to give its formal approval.

There likewise is much speculation as to how far the American reservations might possibly affect the reservations of some of the minor powers, such as China, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, desire to make.

PENROSE PROMISES TO BOOST ST. LOUIS FOR G. O. P. MEETING

Spencer was aiding in lining up Senators who are members of the National Committee for St. Louis.

"Spencer is very popular among the other Republican Senators," Schnoll said. "Several of them told me that they wanted Spencer returned to the Senate and that if it would help Spencer any they would work for St. Louis for the convention."

The local committee will meet Wednesday afternoon at the Mayor's office to receive the report of Schnoll and Babler and will then decide what further action to take.

MRS. LILY BUSCH IN PASADENA

Mrs. Lily Busch, widow of Adolphus Busch, is spending the winter at the famous Busch winter home at Pasadena, Cal.

For more than a year Mrs. Busch has had the Pasadena home on the market but she has not yet found a purchaser. One of her stated reasons for selling has been that the upkeep of the place costs about $50,000 a year.

Lodge Treaty Reservations and Set Offered by Hitchcock

LODGE RESERVATIONS.

THE preamble and the Lodge reservations to the peace treaty follow:

Preamble: The committee also report the following reservations and understanding to be made a part and a condition of the resolution of ratification, which ratification is not to take effect or bind the United States until the following reservations and understandings have been accepted as a part and a condition of said instrument of ratification by at least three of the four principal allied and associated Powers, to-wit: Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

Withdrawal. — The United States so understands and construes Article 1 that in case of notice of withdrawal from the league of nations, as provided in said article, the United States shall be the sole judge as to whether all its international obligations and all its obligations under the said covenant have been fulfilled, and notice of withdrawal by the United States may be given by a concurrent resolution of the Congress of the United States.

Article 10—The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere in controversies between nations, whether members of the league or not, under the provisions of article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the Congress, which, under the Constitution, has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment or the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide.

The Congress of the United States will provide by law for the appointment of the representatives of the United States in the assembly and the council of the league of nations and may in its discretion provide for the participation of the United States in any commission, committee, tribunal, court, council of conference, or in the selection of any members thereof and for the appointment of members of said commissions, committees, tribunals, courts, councils or conferences, or any other representatives under the treaty of peace, or in carrying out its provisions, and until such participation and appointment have been so provided for and the powers and duties of such representatives have been defined by law, no person shall represent the United States under either said league of nations or the treaty of peace with Germany or be authorized to perform any act for or on behalf of the United States thereunder, and no citizen of the United States shall be selected or appointed as a member of said commissions, committees, tribunals, courts, councils or conferences, except with the approval of the Senate of the United States.

On League Expenses.

League Expenses—The United States shall not be obligated to contribute to any expenses of the league of nations ,or of the secretariat, or of any commission, or committee, or conference, or other agency organized under the league of nations or under the treaty or for the purpose of carrying out the treaty provisions, unless and until an appropriation of funds available for such expenses shall have been made by the Congress of the United States.

Provision on Armaments—If the United States shall at any time adopt any plan for the limitation of armaments proposed by the council of the league of nations under the provisions of article 8, it reserves the right to increase such armaments without the consent of the council whenever the United States is threatened with invasion or engaged in war.

Economic Boycotts—The United States reserves the right to permit, in its discretion, the nationals of a covenant breaking state, as defined in article 16 of the covenant of the league of nations, residing within the United States or in countries other than that violating said article 16, to continue their commercial, financial and personal relations with the nationals of the United States.

Enemy Alien Property—Nothing in article 296, 297 or in any other article, section or annex of the treaty of peace with Germany shall, as against citizens of the United States, be taken to mean any confirmation, ratification or approval of any act otherwise illegal or in contravention of the rights of citizens of the United States.

The Monroe Doctrine.

Monroe Doctrine—The United States will not submit to arbitration or to inquiry by the assembly or by the council of the league of nations, provided for in said treaty of peace, any questions which in the judgment of the United States depend upon or relate to its long-established policy commonly known as the Monroe Doctrine; said doctrine is be interpreted by the United States alone and is hereby declared to be wholly outside the jurisdiction of said league of nations and entirely unaffected by any provision contained in the said treaty of peace with Germany.

HITCHCOCK PROPOSALS.

FOLLOWING is the text of the reservations to the peace treaty—the minimum concession of the administration forces—introduced Nov. 13 in the Senate by Democratic Leader Hitchcock, with a view to obtaining a vote on them in the closing stages of the fight in the Senate:

That any member nation proposing to withdraw from the league on two years' notice is the sole judge as to whether its obligations referred to in article 1 of the league of nations have been performed as required in said article.

That no member nation is required to submit to the league, its council, or its assembly, for decision, report or recommendation, any matter which it considers to be in international law a domestic question, such as immigration, labor, tariff or other matter relating to its internal or coastwise affairs.

That the national policy of the United States known as the Monroe doctrine, as announced and interpreted by the United States, is not in any way impaired or affected by the covenant of the league of nations and is not subject to any decision, report or inquiry by the council or assembly.

That the advice mentioned in article 10 of the covenant of the league which the council may give to the member nations as to the employment of their naval and military forces is merely advice which each member nation is free to accept or reject according to the conscience and judgment of its then existing Government, and in the United States this advice can only be accepted by action of the Congress at the time in being. Congress alone under the Constitution of the United States having the power to declare war.

That in case of a dispute between members of the league if one of them has self-governing colonies, dominions or parts which have representation in the assembly, each and all are to be considered parties to the dispute, and the same shall be the rule if one of the parties to the dispute is a self-governing colony, dominion or part, in which case all other self-governing colonies, dominions or parts, as well as the nation as a whole, shall be considered parties to the dispute, and each and all shall be disqualified from having their votes counted in case of any inquiry on said dispute made by the assembly.

Shantung Reservation — The United States withholds its assent to articles 156, 157 and 158 and reserves fully liberty of action with respect to any controversy which may arise under said articles between the republic of China and the empire of Japan.

Domestic Questions — The United States reserves to itself exclusively the right to decide what questions are within its domestic jurisdiction and declares that all domestic and political questions relating wholly or in part to its internal affairs, including immigration, labor, coastwise traffic, the tariff, commerce, the suppression of traffic in women and children and in opium and other dangerous drugs, and all other domestic questions, and all questions affecting the present boundaries of the United States and its insular and other possessions are solely within the jurisdiction of the United States and are not under this treaty to be submitted in any way either to arbitration or to consideration of the council or of the assembly of the league of nations, or any agency thereof, or to the decision or recommendation of any other Power.

Mandates. — No mandate shall be accepted by the United States under article 22, part 1, or any other provision of the treaty of peace within Germany, except by action of the Congress of the United States.

Reparation Commission.—The United States understands that the Reparation Commission will regulate or interfere with exports from the United States or Germany or from Germany only when the United States by act or joint resolution of Congress approves such regulation or interference.

The German colonies and Reed reservations before the Senate for action today:

The United States declines to accept an interest as trustee or in her own right, or any responsibility for the government or disposition of the overseas possessions of Germany to which Germany renounces 'her rights and titles' to the principal allied and associated Powers under articles 119 to 127, inclusive.

Reed Reservation.

The United States reserves to itself exclusively, the right to decide what questions affects its honor or its vital interests, and declares that such questions are not, under this treaty, to be submitted in any way, either to arbitration or to the consideration of the council or of the assembly of the league of nations, or any agency thereof, or to the decision or recommendation of any other Power.

W. C. T. U. PLANS TO RAISE $1,000,000 FUND BY MARCH

dits in 1902 and was ransomed for $66,000, was on the stage. The lower floor of the Odeon was about three-fourths filled and a few sat in the balcony.

At the afternoon session reports of the National Jubilee Committee and the Advisory Board are on the program.

"Americanization" will be the theme of tonight's meeting, opening at 7:30. An illustrated hymn, "America the Beautiful," a life play; "A Lesson in English," folk songs and an office scene in an Americanization center will be features of the program. Mrs. Mary Clark Barnes, superintendent of the department of Americanization, and Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston will make the chief addresses. A chorus and tableau, "America," will end the program.

Soldiers Cheered Prohibition.

At last night's session in the Odeon, two of the speakers were Dr. Daniel A. Poling of Boston, associate president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, and Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the New York State W. C. T. U. Dr. Pooling said that, when he announced the news of the enactment of the prohibition amendment to groups of soldiers in France, they cheered. He said it was not true that returned soldiers and sailors, as a body, were against prohibition, and said that one man on a transport, yelling for beer, might make more noise than many who had no such desire.

Mrs. Boole's theme was "Clinch the Victory." She said prohibition was not the result of the war, but that victory followed years of work by the women. The greatest part of the task is still ahead, she declared, as the liquor interests still have millions of dollars, and strong legal assistance.

Sober Army Inspired Allies.

Rev. W. H. Geiswelt preached the convention sermon yesterday in the Third Baptist Church. He asserted that "it was America's stand on the liquor question that won the war." The other allied nations took a backward position on the drink question, he said, and the result appeared in weakened morale at the front and at home. America's sober army gave a new inspiration to the allies, he said.

Busch Explains His Remark and Invites W. C. T. U. to Bevo Plant.

August A. Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., has issued a statement explaining his invitation to the W. C. T. U., which was mentioned at Saturday night's Victory dinner of the national organization at Hotel Statler.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, national president, said she and other officials received an invitation from Busch some weeks before, through Secretary Hatfield of the Convention Bureau, to hold the convention in the Bevo Building. Hatfield added, she said, that "Mr. Busch said he thought St. Louis was the proper place for the ladies to hold their first convention after the enactment of prohibition."

Charles M. Hay, commenting on the matter in his speech later, said he was not surprised at Busch's action, and he predicted that, in a few years most of the St. Louis brewers would agree that prohibition was a good thing, and would oppose any proposal to revive the beer business.

Busch says, in his statement, that his remark to Hatfield was made in a spirit of fun, after Hatfield, also in jest, had mentioned to him that the W. C. T. U. national convention was coming to St. Louis. Busch said he mentioned Bevo Mill as a meeting place. He said Anheuser-Busch was complying with the law, but was supporting the legal movement to bring the issue of constitutional prohibition before the United States Supreme Court, and that the institution would resume brewing beer if it could do so lawfully.

"Now that the incident has become public," Busch said, "I sincerely and cordially invite the officers and delegates of the W. C. T. U. to inspect the Bevo plant, with the understanding in advance with the good ladies that I shall not be considered a convert to their cause, nor they to mine."

Miss Gordon said today that she thought it likely that many of the delegates would, individually and informally, accept Busch's invitation. As to his statement that he was not to be considered a convert to the views of the W. C. T. U., she said, "Maybe time will change that. Greater miracles have happened."

Moore, Miss M. A. Gillis, chief nurse, and a number of negro physicians, ministers and educators made addresses.

treaty will not be of that character, as the debate has disclosed some unanswerable arguments and the Democrats have srown an inclination to vote for such reservations as clearly safeguard the United States in certain particulars which the persons who drew the original treaty must have overlooked. If there had existed a spirit of conciliation in the Senate, these points would have been ironed out long ago and foreign governments, too, would have been grateful for the acts of revision, contributed by the Senate.

But thus far there has been only sparring and fighting in the Senate. And one has to examine the Congressional Record of last Saturday alone to see that the two sides were not voting on the merits of the numerous reservations which they disposed of so rapidly but were simply voting as parties. Now and then a Democrat or Republican would go from one side to the other, but the bulk of each party stood pat and didn't give an inch. Again and again the Democrats who were on the defensive offered reservations covering exactly the points made by the Republican opponents, but they were rejected, all of which is reminiscent of the way the Democratic majority used to vote down amendments to legislation offered by Republicans. Such is party government in domestic affairs and the two political parties in the Senate haven't drawn any line at the seacoast either, but have extended their practices new into the consideration of foreign affairs.

How It Will Work Out.

The way things will work out, therefore, in the immediate future is this: The Lodge resolution contains several reservations that are virtually amendments. They change the text of the treaty and would require also that foreign Governments accept them. One reservation alone furnishes an example of why Great Britain and France and Italy cannot accept the Lodge resolution of ratification. It is the Shantung provision, which is something outside the league of nations entirely. The Lodge resolution would formally withhold America's consent from the Shantung settlement. That in itself might not be objectionable to Europe, but Great Britain and France and Italy are asked to approve that withdrawal of America from a section of the treaty, and to give such approval is to offend Japan, with whom Great Britain and France have treaties covering that specific point.

Unless England would want to endanger her relations with Japan especially at a moment when the Anglo-Japanese agreement is about to be renewed and would care to disapprove the Shantung settlement merely to satisfy the American Senate—a course that her friends here say is unthinkable—the Senate might as well give up the idea that England and France would accept the Lodge resolution of ratification at all. And rejection by on foreign Government knocks out the whole series of reservations for in the preamble offered by Senator Lodge and now a part of the ratifying resolution itself, foreign Governments must agree in advance to accept all the reservations.

Two Courses Might Follow.

Two courses might follow. Foreign Governments could disapprove and the Senate be obliged to go through the whole process of drafting other reservations or time could be saved by understanding in advance that foreign Governments contemplate such action. The President himself being conversant with the viewpoint of the allies could make a statement saying he would not submit the reservations to foreign Governments because the Lodge resolutions change the text of the treaty and he would rather negotiate a new treaty. Such an expression might be approved in the foreign press, or the President without involving foreign Governments could take it upon himself to state categorically that the Senate by its reservations has not ratified the treaty at all and thus keep the matter before the Senate.

But there appears to be enough Democrats to defeat the Lodge resolution of ratification. Mr. Lodge said in the Senate on Saturday that such action would end consideration of the treaty. Vice President Marshall anounced that he intended to rule that after the Lodge resolution is disposed of other resolutions of ratification may come before the Senate.

An appeal from his ruling could be taken and a majority vote alone is needed to overrule him, but Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, who is a keen observer and an expert on legislative tangles, told a group of correspondents at the White House that he did not believe the Vice President would be overruled. He laughingly remarked that he would bet money that there were at least nine Republicans who would join with 40 Democrats to sustain the Vice President and keep the treaty before the Senate so that some compromise might be worked out in the interest of ultimate ratification.

Could Be Reconciled.

But even if the Vice President were overruled, there is nothing under the Senate rules to prevent the Democrats from moving to reconsider their own action on the treaty and thus bring the question into debate again with the opportunity of offering compromise reservations. The country may wonder who is responsible for the delay and it might make up its mind that the two political parties as at present organized haven't been able to come to an agreement on such a vital question as a peace treaty that affects the whole world, but just now each party is blaming the other, serenely confident that party prestige and pride of opinion are paramount.

This sort of business will last throughout the voting process until the Lodge resolution and the Hitchcock resolution have both been defeated and the Senate is left squarely with the job of working out compromise resolution. And then, as has happened so often before in the closing hours of the session, a compromise will be reached and the treaty ratified.

HEARING FRIDAY ON M'CULLOCH'S PLEA FOR CHANGE OF VENUE

Testimony will be introduced Friday in Judge Garesche's court for the purpose of showing that the inhabitants of St. Louis and St. Louis County are so prejudiced against the United Railways and its officers that former President Richard McCulloch and Bruce Cameron, former superintendent of transportation of the company, could not get a fair trial here on the charge of second degree burglary and larceny in connection with the theft of the referendum petitions.

Attorneys for the indicted men will present evidence in an attempt to prove that such prejudice exists, in order to get a change of venue, that the case may be tried elsewhere.

The new indictment, returned by the grand jury, charging the men jointly, was docketed for today, and, upon the motion for a change of venue, Judge Garesche set the time for the hearing at 10 a. m. Friday. A previous indictment against Cameron alone is still pending at Centerville, Mo., to which he took a change of venue on the same ground.

NEGRO LYNCHED IN MOBERLY; THREE WHO FLED CAUGHT

Four Prisoners Accused of Beating Farmer Taken From Sheriff at Macon by Crowd in Autos.

THREE ESCAPE DURING SHOOTING IN PARK

Noose Placed Around Neck While Crowd Watches, but Accused Man Starts to Run and Is Shot to Death.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, Mo., Nov. 17.—Efforts are being made today to identify some of the 75 men who early yesterday took four negro highwaymen from the Macon jail and brought them to Moberly, where they killed one, believed to be George Adams, 18 years old of 2938 Federal street, Chicago.

All but one of the men is said to have been masked. Sheriff Stamper of Macon, whom they overpowered, says he did not recognize any of them.

The other three negroes escaped from the mob, but all three were recaptured by officers. One had removed a shoe at the shore of a lake and the bottom was dragged in the belief that he had been drowned, but he was found later. The authorities refuse to say where the men are being kept today.

The lynching occurred about 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

No progress had been made today in efforts to identify the men responsible for the killing. Sheriff Stamper of Macon said that he did not recognize any of them.

The negro was shot to death after a rope had been placed around his neck and the other end thrown over a limb of a tree in Forest Park. It is not determined whether the rope broke or whether the members of the mob began to fear the result of their action, but the negro gained his feet and started to run, the other three following him. Four shots were heard and he fell dead with four wounds in his head. The others escaped, but were recaptured after hours of pursuit by officers.

Richardson was found just at the outskirts of Moberly. Anderson was caught at the farm of J. Walker, four miles west, and Taylor was taken from a freight train at Clifton Hill. They gave the names of Halley Richardson, 101 West Thirty-first street, Chicago; James Anderson, 3122 Federal street, Chicago, and Sanford Taylor, 113 Baker street, East St. Louis.

Prisoners Tied, Lined Up.

When the negroes were brought the 26 miles from Macon in automobiles, they were taken to Forest Park, where a large crowd had gathered. A huge fire was burning and the prisoners were lined up with their hands tied behind them. Some member of the mob is believed to have released the hands of one and he is supposed to have freed his companions.

The four men were accused of robbing and beating Edward Thompson, a farmer, Thursday night. They were arrested at a rooming house operated by Harry Cassy, a negro, who told the police of his guests.

The four were placed in jail at Macon. Late Saturday night Sheriff Stamper received a telephone message purporting to be from Moberly authorities, inquiring if the prisoners had reached there safely. The speaker told the Sheriff he was coming over to the jail. When the supposed officers arrived, they consisted of 18 automobile loads of masked men, who overpowered Stamper and released the prisoners. Binding the men, the mob loaded them into cars and started for Moberly.

Many Farmers in Town.

Rumors that Thompson's neighbors were bent on lynching the negroes reached the Moberly officers Friday morning, and following their preliminary hearing, when they were bound over to the next term of the Circuit Court, the prisoners were taken to the Randolph County jail at Huntsville.

Friday night, it is said, a mob went to Huntsville, but was outwitted by Sheriff Henry Owens, who had taken the negroes to the Macon County jail. Saturday night an unusually large number of farmers were noticed on the streets here, but as the negroes were not in the city mob violence was little feared.

About seventy-five or eighty men were in the party, the officers at Macon said. All, according to the Sheriff, appeared to be armed and several carried ropes. One of the men took the Sheriff's revolver from him.

Stamper said the visitors were very good-natured. Everything was quiet, he said, except for the cries of the negroes, who became hysterical when they saw the crowd. The leader of the party seemed to be familiar with the jail. He led his followers to the cells. The lights were switched on and the prisoners dragged out. Their screams were silenced by the leader. Stamper pleaded that the mob leave the men in their cells. Stamper said only one was unmasked. He added he could identify none of them. When he promised to see to it that all were held at the jail until called for trial, several of the mob clutched him by the arms and held him until he directed a deputy to surrender the keys. He was assured repeatedly he would not be harmed.

Logical Result of What Juries Are Doing, Says Macon Mayor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MACON, Mo., Nov. 17.—In discussing the overpowering of Sheriff Stamper and the taking of four negro prisoners from the Macon jail Sunday morning, Mayor Lacy said today: "It is the logical result of what our juries are doing. There is a tendency to turn criminals loose and the people are becoming tired of it. We have lately tried two murder cases in this county, in both of which the State had as strong evidence as I ever saw produced before a jury, yet in one case the jury disagreed and in the other returned a verdict for the defense. Under such conditions you cannot expect anything but mob violence. Of course we greatly deplore the fact that such an incident as the forcible removing of the prisoners from the charge of the Sheriff could have occurred in Macon County, and yet as juries will disregard the direct import of evidence, such things may be expected.

"Of course, if we get a line on the parties who did it we will prosecute, but from the evidence at hand identification seems very unlikely."

The man acquitted in the case referred to was George Solon, tried for the killing of Pete Threlkeld at the Shelbina Fair in September, 1917.

WEST SALEM, O., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Sarah Haverstock is dead and two other women and two men are seriously ill at an Ashland hospital today as a result of eating poisoned butter at a dinner given by the dead woman at her home here Friday. Physicians hold out little hope for the recovery of the two men, while the women are reported to have an even chance for recovery.

Chemical tests proved that the butter, which had been made by Mrs. Haverstock, contained a poison believed to have been in the milk from which it was made. The victims in addition to Mrs. Haverstock are: Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Reed, Frank Cowell and Mrs. Joseph Crosby.

Under the educational law upward of 10,000 will be given $30 a month while attending school.

DANIEL S. BROWN, ILL, UNCONSCIOUS 5 DAYS

Condition of Famous Orchid Collector Critical — Stricken Three Weeks Ago.

Daniel S. Brown, 66 years old, widely known as a collector of orchids and other rare plants and until his retirement vice president of the Pioneer Cooperate Co., is critically ill at his home, 5221 Washington boulevard.

He was stricken with paralysis about three weeks ago and since last Tuesday he has been unconscious. His health had not been good since his retirement from active business about six years ago.

Brown's St. Louis County home, "Brownhurst," near Kirkwood, is one of the most beautiful in the county. Of its 164 acres the major portion was devoted to cultivation of flowers.

At one time Brown was reputed to have the finest and most comprehensive collection of orchids owned by a single individual in the United States. His interest in horticulture extended over 40 years and he engaged the services of famous European experts in gathering his collection of rare and valuable flowers.

In May, 1918, Brown donated to the Missouri Botanical (Shaw's) Garden a collection of orchids, palms and ferns whose original cost to him was said to have been several hundred thousands of dollars. He retained about 2000 specimens of the "lady slipper" orchid, which is much sought after by collectors.

MINING EXPOSITION HERE IS OPENED WITH 100 EXHIBITS

Is Department of American Mining Congress, Whose Opening Session Is to Be Held This Afternoon.

MEETING TO LAST THROUGH FRIDAY

Industrial War Minerals and Gold Conferences Are Meeting in Connection With the Parent Body.

The Exposition of Mines and Mining, of the American Mining Congress, was opened this morning in the old Southern Hotel building, at Broadway and Walnut street. The exposition comprises 50,000 square feet of space, divided among more than 100 exhibitors, including five Government departments.

The Mining Congress opens this afternoon in the exposition auditorium, the former dining room of the Southern. Its sessions, and those of its branches, will continue until Friday evening. The branches are the National Industrial Conference, National Gold Conference and National War Minerals Conference. The congress headquarters are at the Planters Hotel. The Gold Conference will have its headquarters at Hotel Statler, and the other branches will be at the Planters and the Exposition Building.

Bureau of Mines Man Speaks.

Dr. Van H. Manning, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, and personal representative of the Secretary of the Interior, delivered the address officially opening the exposition. Other speakers were William K. Kavanaugh, chairman of the Exposition Committee, and Xenophon P. Wilfley, former United States Senator.

Elmer Donnell, general manager of the Associated Industries of Missouri, spoke for Albert J. Davis, president of the same body, who is sick. He cited statistics to show an increase in the value of Missouri manufactured products from $905,575,717 in 1916 to more than $1,500,000,000 in 1918.

"The Associated Industries of Missouri is planned, and will continue to build its influence, on the foundation of Americanism," Donnell said. "We are ready to fight to the last ditch those radical interests which would defy law, destroy Government, wreck our institutions and control industry.

"Bolshevism and I. W. W. ism must go.

"If this conference, after thoughtful, fair and intelligent deliberation, presents a plan for the total destruction of un-American, un-democratic sentiment in this United States, its decisions may be assured of the unqualified support of the entire membership of our association."

At the opening session of the congress, this afternoon, Burkeley Wells of Denver, president of the congress, will respond to addresses of welcome. He is an executive in a number of large mining enterprises. W. Frank Carter, new president of the Chamber of Commerce, is one of the speakers scheduled.

Tonight, in Exposition Hall, a public gathering will be held, with addresses on transportation. The speakers and topics scheduled are: Alba B. Johnson, former president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, "Putting Our Railroads on a Business Basis;" Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age, "What the Railroad Executives Think of the Legislative Program;" United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, "What the Interstate Commerce Bill Means to the Nation," and Clifford Thorne of Chicago, "Effects of Railway Rates on the Mine Industry."

Bankers to Speak.

A general session of the Congress will be held in Exposition Hall tomorrow morning, with Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington speaking on "Who Is the Government?" Tuesday afternoon the War Minerals Conference and the National Conference of Schools of Mines will be held in different rooms of the Planters, and the Gold Conference will open at the Statler, with addresses by leading bankers. At the same time a moving picture, "The Story of Petroleum," will be shown in Exposition Hall, with no charge for admission. This film was made for the Standard Oil Co., and shows the historic development of the petroleum industry, and all its present branches.

Tomorrow evening there will be an informal dinner at the Planters, with a conference on industrial problems. At 8 p. m., in the Exposition Hall, a public meeting will be held, with these speakers and topics.

George W. Simmons, vice president, Simmons Hardware Co., "The Russian Radical as I Found Him;" Jerome Landfield of New York, executive secretary, Russian Economic League, "America's Relation to Russian Industrial Reconstruction," James Lord, president, mining department American Federation of Labor, "Organized Labor;" Allen Walker, manager of the foreign department, Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, "What Is the Matter With America?"

SUPT. WITHERS OF THE BOARD OF Education will speak on "Vocational Training" at the luncheon of the Electrical Board of Trade at Hotel Statler tomorrow at 12:15 o'clock.

OPERATORS WANT MINERS SENT BACK TO WORK

Consider Calling Upon Government to Enforce More Vigorously Federal Court Order on Strike.

NEGOTIATIONS ON SCALE DELAYED

Reference to "From Bank to Bank" Left Out of the Men's Demand as to Length of Working Day.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Operators in the soft coal industry today considered calling upon the Department of Justice to enforce more vigorously the Federal Court mandate against the striking miners and to force resumption of work in those districts where the men walked out Nov. 1.

The Government has not done its full duty in merely requiring the withdrawal of the strike order, several operators declared, pointing out that a general stoppage of production of coal exists in many mines employing union labor.

Notices of the withdrawal of the strike order were sent out on plain paper instead of official stationery and without the organization seal and fac-simile signatures of the officers of the United Mine Workers of America, it was said.

The conference of wage scale committees in the central competitive bituminous coal field was postponed today at the request of the operators, who were not ready to submit a counter proposal to the demands received from the miners Saturday. Meantime a committee of the operators is framing a reply. It is said the question of the renewal of work by the miners is one of the matters to be brought up by the operators.

Six-Hour Day Demand.

Acting President Lewis of the miners' organization still holding the miners' demands just, takes issue with the statement of Secretary Wilson that a wage increase of 60 per cent would make the miners a favored class of workers.

The demands submitted to the operators reaffirmed the six-hour day but omitted reference to "from bank to bank." Lewis explained that the miners now are asking a maximum of six hours working time in the mines. The time required to go down into the mines and return to the surface would add an average of about a half hour to the day, Lewis said.

Lewis declared that miners' representatives from outlying districts would remain here until a settlement in the coal industry was reached. "I think the operators will negotiate with them if they expect to operate their properties," he said.

Settlement in Wyoming.

Wyoming miners and operators have reached a settlement satisfactory to both parties and the mines will be reopened at once, according to a telegram from P. J. Quealy, president of the Wyoming Coal Operators' Association, received today by Secretary Wilson. The final contract in the Wyoming field is to be based on the agreement reached in the central competitive field, Quealy said.

MAN, 28, FINED FOR BEGGING

One-Legged Man Arrested on Complaint of Red Cross.

Clare Lurue, 28 years old, who was arrested Friday evening on Market street for begging, after complaint by the Red Cross, was fined $100 in Police Court this morning and sent to the workhouse in default of payment. Oct. 25 Lurue was directed to a job as a printer at $37 a week by the Demobilization Bureau, representing himself as a returned soldier, but two days later was seen begging.

His left leg is missing below the knee, and he has been wearing a private's uniform with overseas service and wound chevrons. He admitted in court that he had not had military service.

Eugene Hannagan, a returned soldier, who was also complained of by the Red Cross, was found with Lurue Friday and was sent to the city hospital for observation. He will be turned over to military authorities at Jefferson Barracks.

PRINCE PRECEDES DAY OF GOLF WITH RUN OF HALF MILE

Closing Stay at Mountain Resort With Sports—Attended Sunday Services in Mountain Church.

LEAVES TODAY FOR NEW YORK VISIT

Formal Reception by City and State Will Begin on Royal Party's Arrival at Jersey City.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Nov. 17.—The Prince of Wales began the last day of his stay here today with a brisk run around the half-mile athletic track, and then took a plunge in the swimming pool. After breakfast, the Prince, who seems never to know when he is tired, went to the golf links, where he expected to spend the remainder of the day, lunching at the clubhouse.

The modest little wooden church which nestles among the pine trees on the mountainside here probably for the first time in its existence had a capacity congregation yesterday, with the double attraction of a Bishop preaching and a royal prince as one of the worshipers. When the Prince of Wales entered the edifice every seat, with the exception of those reserved for him and his suite, was occupied. Among the trees outside the church the old-fashioned buggies of the mountain folk were tied alongside the luxurious limousines of the resort's social colony.

Little groups of the mountaineers and their families gathered near the church to watch the Prince as he entered and left the building, but with the courtesy for which they are famous, there was no attempt to crowd the royal visitor. From a distance they watched the young man whose path in life is so very different to their own, and then, drove off to their distant farm houses.

Purpose in Life.

The sermon was preached by Bishop William L. Gravatt of the Episcopal Church, who took for his text: "He set his face steadfastly to go to Jerusalem." The substance of the Sermon was the necessity of every man, prince or peasant, to have a purpose in life.

At the close of the service the Prince waited at the door of the church to greet the Bishop, who surprised him by telling him that he had been introduced to him once before in London, when the British heir was a boy of seven.

The afternoon was devoted to golf, and on the links the Prince had his second introduction of the day, this time to a British veteran of the war, Private Christopher Nelson, of the Lancashire Fusilliers. Private Nelson reminded the Prince that he had fought with him at the capture of Guillemont in the great British offensive on the Somme, in the summer of 1916.

Interest in Boob Championship.

The Prince played his match with Sir Godfrey Thomas, his private secretary, but the main interest was centered on what was announced as the "boob championship" of the United States and Canada, played between Gen. Burstall of the Canadian army, who is attached to the Prince's staff, and J. M. Nye, chief special agent of the United States State Department. Each asserted he was the worst player on the continent, and Nye won.

In the evening the Prince attended a sacred concert in the hotel. The Prince's vacation ends today, when he will leave for New York. He is scheduled to arrive at the metropolis at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

RELIGION IS UPHELD BY TAFT

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Present-day radicals who hope to supplant religion with the doctrine that man is supreme are like radicals of the French Revolution, who said they had dethroned religion with reason," former President William Howard Taft declared in an address last night at the 100th anniversary service of All Soul's Unitarian Church.

"The Bolsheviki say," Taft said, "that they will drive out religion; that they recognize man as supreme and give no thought to a higher power, but you can drive religion out of the window and it will come in at the door."

AUTHORITIES PUZZLED AS TO MAN WHO GAVE AWAY GROCERIES

Was Arrested in East St. Louis as Confidence Man, Although He Was Making Good on Promises.

East St. Louis authorities who caused the arrest Saturday of J. W. Callicotte, proprietor of an "endless chain" grocery, on a charge of operating a confidence game, are wondering how they will support that charge against a man who, as far as has been learned, has promised to give away $6 worth of groceries for every $2 he took in, and carried out the promise in every instance when called upon.

He was released yesterday on bond signed by his son, who was not required to comply with the legal formality of owning property in the State.

This was Callicotte's scheme: A woman deposited $2 and got a coupon entitling her to $10 worth of groceries. She took 10 other such coupons and distributed them among her friends. After four of these friends came in and deposited $2 on their respective coupons, the first woman was given $6 worth of groceries free. The same process was repeated with each woman who came in.

City Commissioner Leber, who is a grocer, questioned Callicotte in an endeavor to discover at what point Callicotte intended to stop giving away groceries and start making a profit, but was unable to do so.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PATENTS FOR $10,000,000 OIL LAND CANCELED

Supreme Court Upholds Government Which Charged 6000 acres Were Obtained Through Fraud.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Government by an opinion today in the Supreme Court won its fight to have canceled patents for 6000 acres of California oil land valued at $10,000,000, alleged to have been obtained through fraud by the Southern Pacific Co.

In disposing of the case the Supreme Court reversed Federal Court decrees dismissing proceedings instituted by the Government to have the land, which is located within naval oil reserve No. 1, returned to the Government.

The Government charged that the company at the time the patents were issued in 1914 under a railroad land grant which reserved mineral lands, knew the lands to be valuable for oil, although it filed alleged false affidavits to the contrary. The Federal District Court held that while there had been no actual discovery of oil on the land, surrounding conditions clearly indicated that it was valuable for oil and the Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed this opinion, is now in turn reversed by the Supreme Court.

In rendering the opinion, Justice Van Deventer said the Southern Pacific officials were not acting in "good faith," owing to their efforts to prevent the fact becoming known that they were seeking to obtain the land, and that they "were attempting to obtain the patent by representing that the lands were not mineral, when they believed the fact was otherwise."

Supreme Court Liquor Appeal Hearing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Supreme Court agreed today to hear arguments next Thursday on appeals from two decisions rendered last week in New York, upholding the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition act. A similar appeal from the Kentucky decision declaring the act unconstitutional will be heard on the same day.

Birth Control Case Dismissed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON Nov. 17.—The Supreme Court today dismissed without an opinion, for lack of jurisdiction, the appeal of Margaret Sanger on the constitutionalitz of the New York State "birth conthol" act. Miss Sanger was sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment for conducting a "birth control clinic" in Brooklyn.

ELECTIONS IN FRANCE SETBACK TO RADICALS

Conservatives, Nationalists and Moderates Win 191 of 206 Districts So Far Reported.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Returns from Sunday's elections for the Chamber of Deputies thus far received show the Conservatives, Nationalists and Moderates far in the lead, these parties winning 191 seats in the 206 constituencies for which complete figures have been received.

The extreme Socialists received a severe setback throughout the country, and in general the Socialists suffered the defeat of many of their leaders. Pierre Renaudel, leader of the Majority Socialists; Jean Longuet, leader of the minority Socialists; Henry Franklin-Bouillon, the radical Socialist, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Champer of Deputies, who has urged rejection of the peace treaty, and Pierre Brison were beaten. The returns show a gain of 46 seats for the Moderates and a loss of 16 for the Extremists.

Gen. Edouard de Castelnau and Gen. L. E. de Maud' Huy, Military Governor of Metz, were elected, but Gen. M. P. E. Sarrail and Gen. Pierre Roques went down to defeat. Aristide Briand and Rene Viviani, both former Premiers, were returned, but Prof. Paul Painleve, also a former Prime Minister, was defeated.

Paul Meunier, the radical Republican deputy who recently was arrested charged with having had intelligence with the enemy, received only 2500 votes in the Aube district. Albert F. Le Brun, former Minister of Blockade and the Invaded Regions, who was dismissed from his post by Premier Clemenceau because his name appeared on the same ticket with that of Deputy Louis Marin, who cast his vote against the peace treaty, was elected, as was Marin.

The list of Georges Mandel, Premier Clemenceau's chief confidential secretary, whose assassination was attempted at Bordeaux early Thursday morning, was first in the Bordeaux district. The whole list was elected. Capt. Andre Tardieu, the present Minister of Blockade and the Invaded Regions, was victorious in Seine-et-Oise.

Baron Maurice de Rothschild was elected in the Pyrenees.

ROME, Nov. 17.—Many monsignors, priests and monks were seen casting their votes at the polls yesterday, in contrast to former general elections, when no ecclesiastics voted. Cardinal Amette was at the polls at 8:30 o'clock, but the booths were not open.

Indications are that 119 Ministerialists, 27 members of the constitutional opposition, 45 Socialists, 32 Catholics, 21 Nationalists and 14 Republicans had been elected to the Chamber of Deputies.

In the Province of Potenza it was believed Premier Nitti was elected by a large majority. Despite strong opposition, Vittorio Orlando and Antonio Salandra, both former Premiers, seem to have been elected.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 17.—The latest reports are to the effect that the Catholics have lost about 15 seats and the Liberals seven seats to the Socialists.

EDITOR CRITICISES PLUMB RAIL PLAN IN ADDRESS HERE

Samuel O. Dunn of Railway Age Tells City Club Employes Would Have Absolute Power in Use of Funds

"GENERAL PUBLIC WOULD FOOT BILLS"

Speaker Declares Author of Measure Distorts Facts—Suggests Purchase of Roads by Workers.

The chief fault of the Plumb plan for the operation of the railroads after the period of Government control is that it binds the Government to guarantee fixed charges and operating expenses, while placing in the hands of the employes decision of what 70 per cent of those operating charges shall be, their own wages forming that proportion of the running cost, according to Samuel O. Dunn of Chicago, editor of the Railway Age, who appeared before the City Club today to answer statements made to the club last week by the author of the Plumb plan, Glenn E. Plumb.

"Plumb said here," Dunn declared, "that 'any railroad which permitted its trustees to expend trust funds for their own benefit will corrupt any man in time.' The Plumb plan proposes that the railroad employes shall be trustees for the public in the railroads. It gives the employes absolute power to fix their own wages. They are in the position Plumb describes, 'expending trust funds for their own benefit,' and I agree that it would be a bad situation."

Says Plumb Distorts Facts.

Dunn said that Plumb's assertion was made in connection with a description of graft on the Baltimore & Ohio, which consisted of the expenditure of the railroad's funds for supplies through companies in which directors of the road were chief stockholders.

"Today's news is the best answer to Plumb on the efficiency of Baltimore & Ohio operation," Dunn said. "An item states that the cost of operating the Baltimore & Ohio under Government control for one year has been found to have been $20,500,000 greater than the three-year average cost of operation under private operation. Plumb, in his St. Louis speech, as well as all his speeches, does not discuss the plan for railroad operation, but discusses past mismanagement of railroads upon a hypothesis he builds largely from a misstatement of fact.

Employes Could Buy Roads.

"Plumb asks favor for his plan as establishing industrial democracy. True industrial democracy would involve the purchase of the railroads by the employes with their own money and not with other people's money. If the employes of the railroads would have one-fifth of their annual wage and buy railroad stock with their savings and with the dividends accruing, they would in five years be in possession of 51 per cent of all the railroad stock in the United States and would control the roads. In ine years they could become absolute owners of all the stock. It would be safe to entrust operation of the roads to them if they had acquired the power over operation in that fashion."

"The largest item of railroad expenses is wages," Dunn continued. "The Plumb plan declares that wages shall be determined by a board, one-half comprised of classified employes and one-half of 'official' employes. Bear in mind that the Government will own tahe roads and the 'officials' will be working for wages and are just as much employes as are the classified employes. Hence, we ahev a board of employes pasing on what they shall pay themselves.

Public Would Suffer.

"The largest expense of operation is wages. There is nothing in human experience to show that men ever are satisfied with their income. The employes hence would be in a position to demand what they liked and obtain it. The Government, which by the Plumb plan, would guarantee the operating expenses, hence would foot the bills. The Government is the public. The public would foot the bills.

"There is no good reason to doubt that the employes would continue their demands they now are making for shorter trains. Shorter trains mean greater operating costs and the public pays the operating costs. The employes now are asking for higher wages. Higher wages mean greater operating costs and the public pays the operating costs.

"The Plumb plan would be absolutely unsound economically because no property ever was or ever will be efficiently managed which is not managed either by the owners of it or by persons who have or feel a sense of responsibility to the owners and who can be ejected from the management at any time they are found to be abusing their trust."

Dunn will speak tonight at the American Mining Congress in the Southern Hotel Building on "What the Railroad Executives Think of the Legislative Program."

Negroes Sentenced on Drug Charge.

Peter Carson and Lulu Chapman, negroes, of 1311 Franklin avenue, pleaded guilty to selling cocaine and opium today and were sentenced by Federal Judge Faris, who fixed Carson's punishment at a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary and the woman's at six months in the St. Charles jail.

RECEIVER FOR U. R. TO BUY 10 ACRES OF LAND

Purchase of $35,000-Tract for Kirkwod Car Loop Approved by Special Master Lamm.

An order for the purchase of 10 acres of land at the intersection, just beyond the city limits, of the Natural Bridge road with the Kirkwood-Ferguson road, at a cost of $35,000 was granted Receiver Rolla Wells of the United Railways today by Special Master Lamm.

Albert T. Perkins, manager for the receiver, explained that the land would be used for the construction of two loops which would permit some of the cars running from Kirkwood to loop there and return to Kirkwood, instead of continuing on to the end of the line. The reason, he said, was the increased patronage on the southern portion of the line, which has greatly outgrown the traffic on the northern portion.

Another order granted by Judge Lamm was for the expenditure in 1920 of $621,910 for track reconstruction. This figure is about the average expended yearly upon the United Railways for reconstruction.

The sixth monthly report of the receiver showed receipts between Sept. 1 and Sept. 30 to have been $4,423,509.63, including $2,254,000 for receivers' certificates issued to retire the loan from the War Finance Corporation, and expenditures of $3,772,596.59, leaving a balance of cash on hand, $661,456.45, there having been $1,010,43.41 on hand Sept. 1.

An order for the payment of bond interest aggregating about $800,000 in January and February also was issued.

A motion of Ephrim Caplan, attorney for John R. Seaman in the receivership suit, asking that special counsel be appointed to represent the railways in a hearing before the Public Service Commission on a petition to increase prices for power under contracts held by the Union Electric Light & Power Co. was denied.

KENTUCKIAN CONFESSES HE KILLED WIFE 13 YEARS AGO

Painter Was Tried and Sentenced for Crime, but Was Acquitted Following Appeal.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—Thirteen years ago tonight John B. Etley, a painter, was arrested charged with the murder of his wife, Virginia. He was tried, sentenced to the penitentiary for life, took the case to the Court of Appeals, obtained a reversal of the verdict, and on a second trial was acquitted on the original plea that Mrs. Etley had been slain by a burglar.

Yesterday Etley was taken to a hospital suffering with a complication of diseases. Believing he was about to die, he called a newspaper man and a nurse to his bedside, confessed that he slew his wife by cutting her throat and, according to their report to Centration Station, repeated it to three policement. In his semiconscious intervals he asserted "I had to kill her to get rid of my troubles."

BOMB DAMAGES ALTON HOME OF TWO ITALIAN LABORERS

No One Is Injured, Although Four Children Were Sleeping Near Where Missile Exploded.

The residence of Sam Romano and Ben Molono, Italian laborers, at 40[illegible] Cherry street, Alton, was damaged by a bomb thrown by one of the occupants of an automobile that was driven up to the house shortly after last midnight. Nobody was injured, although four children were sleeping in a room on the side of the house where the explosion occurred.

The walls of the house were cracked by the explosion, the porch was demolished, and windows were broken in the neighborhood. A pedestrian told of seeing an automobile stop before the house, and then drive away, as the bomb exploded. No motive was learned by the police.

STATE MINE CONTROL OPPOSED

By the Associated Press.

BISCARCK, N. D., Nov. 17.—Adjutant-General Angus Frazer and Capt. L. R. Baird of the North Dakota home gards were today ordered by District Judge W. L. Neussle to appear before him Nov. 19 and show cause why the court should not issue a permanent injunction restraining the home guards from "taking, holding and retaining possession" of private coal mines at Wilton, N. D.

This action was the first legal move made by North Dakota coal operators since their mines were seized by proclamation of Gov. Frazier placing the mines under State control pending adjustment of wage differences with the miners. The order was issued upon motion of attorneys for the Washburn Lignite Coal Co. and seeks a permanent injunction to nullify the effects of Gov. Frazier's order.

COUNCIL TAKES UP SHIP ISSUE

Great Britain's Claim Against U. S. Not Acted On.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The status of the Imperator and other German ships aggregating 170,000 tons, now in the possession of the United States, was discussed by the supreme council today, but no action was taken.

Great Britain has claimed that the action of the United States Shipping Board in retaining the vessels violates the agreement in the council that they should be turned over to the British as soon as they had finished transporting American troops.

JUBILEE AT CHURCH OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

Elaborate Ceremony Commemorating 75th Anniversary Led by Archbishop Glennon.

The diamond jubilee of the Catholic Church of St. Vincent de Paul, Ninth and Barry streets, was celebrated yesterday with elaborate ceremony by Archbishop Glennon and about 50 priests.

The Archbishop was attended in the procession by four pages, who carried his train. At mass the Very Rev. J. J. Tannrath, chancellor of the diocese, was archpriest, and the Rev. P. P. Crane of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church was master of ceremonies. The other priests sat in the sanctuary and assisted in the mass.

Father Crane reviewed the history of the parish, which was established in 1844, when the population of St. Louis was 24,000, and nearly half of it Catholic—when there were only four Catholic parishes in the city, the old Cathedral, St. Joseph's, St. Francis Xavier and Our Lady of Victories.

St. Vincent's Home for the Insane, now in St. Louis County, was founded in this parish, as was the original home of the diocesan seminary. In the early days of St. Louis this parish was the strongest advocate of parochial schools and their extension. Father Crane also sketched the life of St. Vincent de Paul, the patron saint of the parish.

The day's observance was brought to a close last evening with services and a sermon by the Very Rev. P. X. McHalf, president of the De Paul Seminary at Chicago.

TWO WIVES TRY TO END LIVES; SAY MEN WERE STARVING THEM

Women Are taken to Hospital and Husbands, Owners of Restaurant, Are Arrested.

Mrs. Hester Goutas, 18 years old, and Mrs. Cora Johnson, 21, wives of John Goutas, 21, and John Johnson, 36, joint owners of a restaurant at 4484 Easton avenue, tried to end their lives with paregoric in their flat above the restaurant last night, after writing notes in which they asserted that their husbands were starving them.

Gordon Morrison, 4048 Easton avenue, a brother of Mrs. Goutas, received a note from the women at 7 p. m., in which they informed him that they had taken poison. He found them in bed, each having swallowed the contents of a small bottle.

The notes, in which they said they had not eaten in 24 hours and that their husbands had barred them from the restaurant, were on a table near the bed. The women were taken to the city hospital, where it was said that they would recover. They refused to make a statement, saying that all they had to say was in the notes.

They were employed as waitresses in the restaurant, they said, until last Saturday, when their husbands discharged them and told them to remain away from the place.

Goutas and Johnson were arrested. They declined to comment on the action of their wives. Both were released on bond.

Mrs. Thomas H. Blundell Dies.

Mrs. Thomas H. Blundell, 50 years old, 5424 Cabanne avenue, wife of the superintendent of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co., died of paralysis this morning at her home. She had been ill for 15 years. Mrs. Blundell was the daughter of Alexander and Angelique Ribot, who were early French residents of St. Louis. A daughter, Mrs. Milford Smith, 6016 Waterman avenue, and her husband, survive her. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday with interment in Valhalla Cemetery.

ITALIAN DALMATIA COMMANDER GOES OVER TO D'ANNUNZIO

Says Soldiers Will Not Leave Soil Included in London Pact; "Sorry for Your Action," Nitti Replies.

By the Associated Press.

FIUME, Nov. 17.—Admiral Millo, Italian Commander of the Dalmatian occupation forces, has gone over to the cause of D'Annunzio, swearing complete loyalty to the poet and declaring that not one Italian soldier will leave soil included in the pact of London. Admiral Millo wrote to Premier Nitti, informing him of his action. The Premier replied:

"I am astonished at the latest D'Annunzio enterprise. However, I am sorry for your action."

It is announced D'Annunzio will occupy all of Istria, including the sections Foreign Minister Tittoni proposes shall comprise an independent State.

D'Annunzio returned here this evening from his expedition to Zara on the Dalmatian coast. His arrival was the occasion for an enthusiastic demonstration. He left the garrison at Zara commanded by one of his officers.

A Chilly Aftermath—

"You're the second sick-a-bed I've seen today," exclaimed Anne as she breezed into Irene Tollinger's room. "I just came from Mary Barnes' and she has the grippe."

Irene sniffed. "Isn't this a terrible way to end a wonderful dance. When Bob found the gasoline tank was empty and we were stalled ten miles from home, I thought it was a joke at first. But will you ever forget how cold we were after that hour and a half wait?"

"Never," Anne said with a shiver. "And I don't see how Bob and Charlie ever walked two miles and back for gasoline. I would have frozen on the way, I know. As it is they have the grippe.

"Anne Wheaton!" Irene exclaimed: "You are the only one who didn't get sick. You certainly are lucky."

"Not lucky, just sensible," Anne said teasingly. "Whenever any one in our family feels they are going to catch cold they start right in taking Weeks' Break-Up-A-Cold Tablets. That is what I did as soon as I reached home."

"Why didn't you tell us? Where in the world do You get them?" Irene asked.

"Until today I thought everybody knew about them. You can get them at any druggist's for twenty-five cents," Anne explained. "But you should always insist on getting Weeks', though, because they contain no calomel, which really should be taken very carefully."

"Well, after this I certainly will have a box around," Irene said with a sigh as she realized that her aching, stuffy head could have been prevented by a little care.

What a pity she doesn't know Resinol Soap would improve her complexion

Remarks like the above are passed about many girls whose appearance would be most attractive were it not for a poor skin. RESINOL SOAP is just what such girls need to help in overcoming their complexion difficulties. It does more than remove dirt—it gets right after those clogged pores, and excessive oiliness, and it benefits the skin cells. When a little Resinol Ointment is used in connection with Resinol Soap, relief is hastened, and unless the trouble is due to some internal disorder, the complexion is usually cleared in a short time.

RESINOL SHAVING STICK is very popular with men who like the way the Resinol in it soothes the face.

"THE VELVET LADY" IS SOMEWHAT FRAYED

Herbert - Blossom Musical Comedy Shows Wear and Tear in Production.

BY RICHARD L. STOKES.

THAT much exploited musical comedy by Victor Herbert and the late Henry M. Blossom Jr., "The Velvet Lady," arrived at the American Theater last night with not a few rents and frays in its texture. Three stage settings were presented which probably were handsome once—and likewise clean; but they now parade without diffidence the grime of long and unablutioned service. Instead of views of a smart apartment on Riverside Drive, they would represent admirably interiors of a dilapidated family mansion, fallen on evil days and destined to the auctioneer's hammer.

The production which the management has condescended to bestow upon the St. Louis public is only another example of the supercilliousness with which Broadway producers too often regard Western audiences. Four or five of the initial members of the troupe are retained, so that the company may be advertised, without too violent a strain upon compunction, as "the original New York cast." The gaps resulting are patched over apparently with any material at hand. There are persons in principal parts of whom one can only surmise what they are doing in this gallery; and a chorus which the director more than once had difficulty in keeping together, both in singing and dancing.

Moreover, the play itself betrays an odor of the suggestive which has been refreshingly absent from most of the musical comedies seen here this year. Georgia O'Ramey, the comedy star of the piece, has, in addition to not a few indecorous lines, a song called "What a Position for Me!" the stanzas of which made even indurated first-nighters uneasy as to what might be coming next. In view of these and other barbarisms, few were startled after the curtain fell on the second act, to hear most audibly a female voice upraised behind the scenes in raucous and passionate upbraiding. It was explained that Miss O'Ramey was expostulating with a member of the cast for slapping her too vigorously on the back during the preceding horseplay.

The Plot Is Involved.

The fable of the play—after a farce by Fred Jackson—shows how a plot may be elaborately complicated and still fail of any notable comedy. A bridegroom and a burglar exchange handbags in the confusion of a train wreck. The housebreaker's satchel contains a string of stolen rubies; the bridegroom's grip contains compromising letters which he has recovered from a cabaret singer, known—for every play must have a title—as "The Velvet Lady." The thief tries to recover the gems, and the young married man struggles to reclaim the letters. Everyone else becomes involved in the intrigue, and three acts are required to unravel a situation which might have been cleared up in one.

The second act is timed for Halloween, apparently with the sole purpose of permitting Miss O'Ramey to dance grotesquely in a spook costume, of bringing on the stage some unlighted jack-o'-lanterns, and of enabling the chorus to blow a shower of soap bubbles. In the end it is the uncouth and inebriate servant girl, Susie from Sioux City, played by Miss O'Ramey, who obtains the reward of $1000 for restoring the jewels to their owner.

Three persons took prominence in the performance. First there was Miss O'Ramey, who was much applauded by those who enjoy seeing her roll her eyes, contort her face, gyrate awkwardly and tipple herself into staggers from a whisky flask. Solly Ward's antics as a novice policeman, also averse to prohibition, diverted others. Then there was Miss Florrie Millership, who dances and acts with vivacity and grace, and whose singing has merit not entirely due to its contrast with that of some of the others. When Sheila Courtney, in the title role, finally appeared in the last minutes of the piece, she displayed the richest costume of the evening and some exotic dancing. The audience learned that a vampire, bent on blackmail, may attempt to further her cause by kicking the chandeliers in the presence of the wife, fiancee and female relatives of the proposed victims.

Herbert's Fluent Score.

Next to the music, the dancing was, on the whole, the most enjoyable part of the performance. Una Fleming in this respect was second to Miss Millership. There are two dancing men in the chief male parts, Alfred Gerrard and Ray Raymond. Edgar Norton is acceptable as an English butler, and Ernest Gossart is the burglar.

One expected from Victor Herbert an unflagging stream of fluent and tuneful melody, and was by no means disapointed, although the score of "The Velvet Lady" is not representative of the best work of the author of "Natoma." The catchiest song is "There's Nothing Too Fine for the Finest," for a chorus of policemen—see "The Pirates of Penzance;" and another tune which caught the ear was a waltz, "Life and Love," though it should scarcely be mentioned in the same sentence with the waltz from "The Merry Widow," for example. Almost always it was necessary, in order to grasp the music, to turn the attention from the stage to the orchestra pit. One of the few lyrics of recent days venturing to turn upon verbal play for its effect was—such as it is—the song called "Logic."

The showhouse was crowded for the opening night performance. There was much intermittent laughter and, as the audience dispersed, a considerable humming of airs from the music.

"The Bird of Paradise" Still Pleasing Large Audiences.

"The Bird of Paradise," which, after some eight or nine years on the road, can hardly be termed a chicken, came back to the Shubert-Jefferson Theater last night, where it was enthusiastically received by an audience which filled every seat in the showhouse. Florence Rockwell, a St. Louis girl, once more has the leading role of Luana, the Hawaiian Princess, and the cast is on a par with the many companies which have presented Richard Walton Tully's drama in past years.

For this season's jaunt around the country "The Bird of Paradise" has been refurnished with some handsome stage settings and effects. The storm in the "Paradise of the Pacific" and the eruption of the ancient volcano have been made more strikingly realistic.

MODELS AND MONKEYS IN MOVIE MELANGE

"Gay Lord Quex" Also a Feature of Week's Local Offerings.

Educated chimpanzees as film actors, Larry Semon's bathing girls in screen presentment, fashion models in the flesh, and a movie melodrama called "Someone Must Pay," with Gail Kane and Jackie Saunders in the cast make up a varied bill at the New Grand Central. The style show is an added feature, the posing being done by five models said to have been brought from New York, and the garments, from corsets and lingerie to fur coats being the products of St. Louis shops. The bill is interesting mainly because of its variety. "Someone Must Pay" is based on the tragic consequences of a husband's ill-founded jealousy. It is a program picture of average quality.

"The Gay Lord Quex," which was a stage success several seasons ago, has been made over into a photo-play which went on yesterday at the Kings, Shenandoah, Juniata and Grand-Florissant and opens today at the Lindell. The story of the philandering Lord is well known to theater-goers, and in its present form it admits of the introduction of many scenes which were impossible to the stage. Tom Moore has the leading role and Naomi Childers, a St. Louis-born actress, in the cast. The bill also includes a number of interesting and amusing short features.

At the Pershing the leading attraction is Elaine Hammerstein in "The Country Cousin." This is a quick-moving combination rural and society play in which a small town heiress goes to New York and almost singes her butterfly wings, but is rescued in time to see the perils which threaten her and she returns to the home town lover who has been true to her all the time. Mr. and Mrs. Carter de Haven in the amusing comedy "Close to Nature," also are on the program.

Dorothea and Vivian, twin sisters, become separated in early childhood when Cossacks destroy their home in the Jewish quarter of Petrograd. Vivian soon after is restored to her father, a bourgoise, and Dorothea finds her way into the home of a proletarian. That is the prologue to "The Right to Happiness," in which Dorothy Phillips, playing the dual role of the twins, is starring at the Liberty Theater this week.

Nineteen years later finds Dorothea a radical of the Bolshevistic type. She is sent by fanatics to America to stir up industrial unrest. Having adopted the name of her foster parents she is not recognized when she leads a strike at her father's manufacturing plant. The father, representing the type of capitalists who do not believe in compromise or arbitration, has been singled out as a target for a mob attack led by red-flaggists. Dorothea helps to inflame the mob. There is a riot at the employer's home, and a bullet intended for Vivian hits Dorothea. The latter's identity is revealed, her father relents the doctrine of universal love and peace triumphs, and all ends happily.

BOY KILLED WHEN HURLED BY AUTO UNDER ANOTHER'S WHEELS

Son of Milton Heights (Ill.) Man Was Crossing Road With Brother—Neither Car Stopped.

Raymond Austin, 14 years old, son of Arthur Austin, Milton Heights, Ill., was killed yesterday afternoon when one automobile struck him and hurled him under the wheels of another approaching from the opposite direction on the State highway between Alton and Milton Heights. Neither automobile stopped.

Raymond and his brother, Nolan, 8 years old, had started to cross the road. One autoist, in attempting to avoid Nolan, struck Raymond. Nolan's screams brought neighbors, who took Raymond to a nearby farmhouse, where it was found that his skull had been fractured and his neck, back, both arms and his right leg had been broken. He died before a physician arrived.

Nolan, the only witness to the accident, said several men were passengers in both machines.

3 MEN IN AUTO JUMP BEFORE BACKING TRAIN DEMOLISHES CAR

Policemen Report There Was No Watchman or Gates at Crossing on East Grand Avenue.

Edward Harrison of Maplewood, treasurer of the Haas-Lieber Grocer Co.; Norton Thomas, 5530 Vernon avenue, former Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, and Dr. Paul Funkhouser, Frisco Hospital, narrowly escaped serious injury at 6:20 p. m. yesterday when Harrison's automobile was demolished by a backing freight train at a crossing of the Wabash railroad at East Grand avenue. They jumped and escaped with slight bruises.

Policemen investigating the accident reported there was no watchman or gates at the crossing and no lights visible to Harrison on the train. Harrison, who was driving west, said some cars on a siding blocked a clear view of the crossing and he did not see the backing train until his machine was on the rails

MARRIED ON THIRD ATTEMPT

Hesitant Bride Persuaded on Early Morning Trip to Clayton.

Clyde E. Butler, 25 years old, 718 Walton avenue, and Miss Marie W. Corrigan, 22 years old, of 4053 Lindell boulevard, were married at 12:30 a. m. yesterday at Clayton after two other attempts had failed.

The couple went to Clayton Friday afternoon for a license, but after they had reached the courthouse the bride refused to continue with the proceedings and they departed. They returned at 10:30 p. m. and obtained the license, but the entreaties of the prospective bridegroom were unavailing and they returned to St. Louis. It was after midnight when they aroused Judge Stecker from bed and said they were ready to get married.

Chicago Radicals Draw Only 500.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Scarcely 500 radicals were present at a meeting yesterday to "protest against Czarism in America," as against 3000 who were present last Sunday, it is reported. Authorities believe the recent drive against the Reds is lessening their ardor. Another probable cause of the drop in attendance is due to the fact that speakers are hard to get, since the many arrests have been made.

Loosening the Hold of the Sugar Habit

This enlarged sketch of the wheat berry shows the sweet germ or heart of the wheat, which forms so important an element in Ralston. This nourishing, butter-colored part of the wheat is exceptionally flavorful and sweet. Besides doing away with the need for much sugar on Ralston, the wheat hearts are unusually nourishing.

THAT the habitual use of much sugar at breakfast is not at all necessary is well known in many families that use Ralston Wheat Food.

They soon notice that most people eat little sugar with their Ralston—many adding a little dash of salt in place of the sugar.

Everyone knows that the sugar habit is due to the fact that the ordinary breakfast food is so tasteless that it absolutely needs sugar to make it palatable.

▪ ▪ ▪

But Ralston contains an unusual element, the little butter-colored hearts of wheat berries which some breakfast foods omit mainly because these sweet and nut-like wheat hearts are not white.

But it is to these wheat hearts that Ralston owes its power of loosening the hold of the sugar habit.

They make Ralston so flavorful and appetizingly nourishing that sugar is soon looked on as unnecessary.

Some, of course, continue to add just a little sugar because of their old habit of substituting sugar for flavor and food value at breakfast.

But the sweet meats of wheat in Ralston seldom fail to loosen the hold of the sugar habit, for they need no artificial help in making Ralston flavorful and appetizing.

If You Suffer the Tortures of Burning Itching Skin Diseases

It's Possible You Can Secure Permanent Relief by the Use of This Prescription Treatment

When your skin itches, you just must scratch and rub, although you well know that the irritation caused will itch all the more and burn like coals of fire. In addition to the suffering and torture, the glands of the inflamed skin will throw off a watery pus that makes the trouble all the more unbearable.

Mussy and greasy external applications may stop the itching for a while, but as this diseased condition of the skin is usually caused by an impure state of your blood, a real purifier is necessary, for no real relief can be expected until the blood is thoroughly purified—the poisons, that are causing the unbearable skin disease, eliminated entirely.

As a red blood purifier, Plough's Prescription C-2223 has been used for years and years with great success in the treatment of those conditions of the skin due to an impure state of the blood. This concentrated liquid treatment contains certain medicinal ingredients well known to the medical profession, which eliminate the poisons causing the trouble, purify the blood and make the skin clear and healthy.

In taking Plough's Prescription C-2223, it is very necessary that the liver be active. A very mild cathartic and liver stimulant is prepared especially for use in connection with the liquid prescription treatment—2223 Liver Pills. Three pills a week are all that will be found necessary to keep the liver and bowels in a healthy condition, thereby assisting the treatment in throwing off the poisons.

Plough's Prescription C-2223 can be found at all good drug stores at $1.50 a bottle; the Pills, 25c a package; or the 2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn., will send both postpaid on receipt of $1.75.

QUARRELING FEATURES GERMAN INQUIRY INTO WAR ACTIVITIES

Former Vice Chancellor is Fined 300 Marks for Refusing to Answer Deputy Cohen.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—Dr. Karl Helfferich, former German Vice Chancellor, who was fined 300 marks for refusing to answer a question by Deputy Cohen at the inquiry of the subcommittee of the assembly in war responsibility, Saturday, counted out the money and placed it on the table.

Deputy Gothein replaced Herr Wermuth as chairman, the latter having declared his disagreement with the committee's decision. The new chairman became enraged at the ensuing demonstration by the spectators, and threatened to exclude the newspaper men and others if there was a repetition.

Deputy Cohen asked Dr. Helfferich his reasons for the snub. The former Vice Chancellor charged the leader of the Independent Socialists with having accepted funds from Joffe, the Russian Bolshevik propagandist, with which the radicals had carried on their propaganda, resulting in the "melting" of the front and general internal collapse. He declared he could not recognize Cohen, out of patriotic motives.

"You can prosecute me to the limit," he added, "but no power on earth can force me to answer Cohen."

Deputy Cohen refuted the charges and bitterly attacked Helfferich's Pan-American agitation. He accused him of being responsible for the German breakdown.

After further accusations the session adjourned, the chairman explaining that the sitting was for investigation, not recriminations.

REDS REASSERT OMSK IS TAKEN

Their Communique Says Kolchak Forces Retreated in Disorder.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The capture of Omsk by Russian Soviet forces, unofficially denied in advices through Scandinavia yesterday, is reasserted in a Bolshevik communique received by wireless from Moscow today. Severe street fighting preceded the capture and more than 1000 prisoners were taken by the Bolsheviki, it is declared.

The Kolchak forces retreated eastward in disorder, says the statement, which also claims the capture of Yanovsky from the all-Russian troops.

BOY HIT BY AUTO NEAR ZOO

Clarence Schoudet, 7 years old, 3436 Missouri avenue, was internally injured at 5 p. m. yesterday, when struck by an automobile driven by Charles A. Niekamp, Jennings, Mo., near the zoo in Forest Park. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital.

Steve Lovacez, 16 years old, 4875 Delmar boulevard, was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile driven by Mrs. Jennie M. Davis, 4320 Delmar boulevard, at Delmar and Euclid avenues, at 3 p. m. He was cut and bruised.

RUFUS KING MURDER TRIAL TODAY

LYNDON, Kan., Nov. 17.—Trial of Rufus King, charged with murder in connection with the mysterious disappearance of three men at Maple Hill, Kan., several years ago, is set for today in District Court here, and attorneys for both sides are expected to announce their readiness to proceed with the case.

King was arrested in Pueblo, Colo., several months ago, following the finding of a skeleton on property formerly occupied by him at Maple Hill. Excavations led to the finding of additional bones and the subsequent filing of two more murder charges against him. It is expected that King will first face trial for the alleged killing of John Woody, son of a farmer living near Maple Hill. Reuben Gutshall and William F. Ringer were the other men King is charged with having killed.

Good Health Within Easy Reach

Vigorous Health Only as Far Away as the Use of Pepto-Mangan

Creates Rich, Red Blood

Pepto-Mangan Obtainable in Liquid or Tablets—Insist on "Gude's" the Genuine

There is really no reason why men or women with thin, watery blood and consequent poor health should remain in that unfortunate condition. Thin, nervous, run-down, tired people never get much happiness out of life.

Men and women with the bloom of health in their cheeks, a cheerful, sunny disposition and an attractive personality are the folks who get most of life's enjoyment, pleasure and success.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan furnishes thin, watery blood with the necessary nourishment to enrich it, enabling it to supply energy, vitality and strength to every part of the body.

Physicians recommend Gude's Pepto-Mangan to patients suffering from anemia because its beneficial and lasting qualities are well known to the medical profession.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is obtainable in either liquid or tablet form. Both forms contain exactly the same strength and medicinal properties.

When you buy Pepto-Mangan of your druggist, be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan.—ADV.

DETROIT HONORS 68 MICHIGAN SOLDIERS WHO DIED IN RUSSIA

Bodies Are Turned Over to Relatives or Are Laid in State in Armory There.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 17.—The first of Michigan's hero dead of the world war "came home" yesterday. Sixty-eight of her sons who made the supreme sacrifice in the Far North of Russia received all the honor that a grateful city and commonwealth could accord them and are either in the hands of sorrowing relatives or lying in state in the Detroit Armory, awaiting removal up-State.

With an honor guard of 600 of their former comrades in the 339th Infantry, the dead, in flag-draped caskets, were borne on army motor trucks from the station through a two-mile lane formed by thousands of citizens standing uncovered.

Only the notes of the funeral march, alternating with the retarded tempo of "Onword, Christian Soldiers," and Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the solemn tolling of bells, broke the tribute of silence.

At the city hall a two-minute halt was made in the public square while an army bugle sounded "taps." The cortege then moved on to the Detroit Armory, where relatives of the dead had gathered. Brief religious services were held, "taps" were again sounded, and final disposition of the bodies began. Eighteen of the dead are Detroiters.

Man Who Drove For Lincoln Dies.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARMI, Ill., Nov. 17.—Thomas S. Ary, 83 years old, who died Saturday after a long illness, enjoyed the distinction of being one of the few men in this section of Illinois who drove Abraham Lincoln overland when Lincoln was making a political tour of the country in the fifties. Ary, then a young driver, took Lincoln from this city to Shawneetown, making the trip in a day.

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.

Made by a New, Exclusive Process

Up to the time of our discovery, Nut Margarine was made by the same process used in making Oleomargarine (from Animal fats). This process was so undependable, we decided it was not good enough for us and set about developing a new process. We were successful. We called our new discovery "The Ashby Process."

GOODY is different from other nut butters—better—because it is the only one made by this new process—The Ashby Process—which enables us to make a dependable product.

GOODY as made by the Ashby Process, is what you hoped other nut butters would be—uniformly delicious.

No Preservatives

Preservatives in nut margarine are used to cover up the carelessness or the ignorance of the manufacturer. GOODY is made from such pure ingredients by such a skilful, cleanly process that it does not need to be preserved.

No Animal Fats

Night and day he is consulted oftener than any other, and he gives his professional services without fee. His only reward, and it is a small one at that, comes when you make a purchase from his stock of merchandise.

You accept his recommendation just as you accept that of your lawyer, your doctor or your banker, because you know that his word is good and that he knows best. He can't afford to make mistakes—and he doesn't. He knows that his whole success in his chosen profession depends on accuracy—on skill—on keeping faith with his customers.

He stakes his reputation a hundred times a day with a hundred different customers—but his judgment is founded on knowledge and experience—the knowledge and experience of the men of his profession handed down through the ages through schools, colleges and text books—and the knowledge and experience which come in the day's work and in association and conference with others in his profession.

The druggist of today doesn't guess—he knows. And one of the reasons he knows it because he insists that the preparations he sells shall measure up to the highest standards.

To recommend an article, the druggists must, of course, know what it contains and how it is made, and this was one reason for the formation of a co-operative national association of druggists and physicians who prepare a complete line of household remedies and toilet goods. This association is the American Druggists Syndicate.

This is the largest enterprise of its kind in the world. More than 28,000 druggists and physicians own and operate it and guarantee its products. They know that A.D.S. Milk of Magnesia is the best in the world, they guarantee that A.D.S. Aspirin meets the highest standards of quality, they stand back of A.D.S. Peredixo Tooth Paste — the Tooth Paste which whitens like Peroxide—because it is incomparably the best. And the same druggists in the same way are squarely behind the entire family of A.D.S. products.

It means everything to you to have such a guarantee behind the remedies you buy—a guarantee based on the scientific knowledge and experience of thousands of experts. When you buy an A.D.S. product from an A.D.S. druggist, you may do so in the confident belief that you have secured the finest possible product at the lowest possible price.

Ask any A.D.S. druggist for A.D.S. product the next time you need any household remedy or toilet article sold in a drug store.

Didn't Care What Happened

"I became a physical wreck from stomach trouble and was a fit subject only for the operating table or graveyard. Being discouraged, I gave way to drink, which made things worse. I got so I didn't care what happened, and wanted to die. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has cured me of everything. Am now in fine condition and feel 25 years younger." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Face Paint Tabooed—Remove Skin Instead.

"A few years ago only one class of women painted their faces," says Dolly Madison. "It was a sign of social ostracism and was tabooed in refined circles. The custom has become so universal we must admit it is to be deplored and to be shelved as soon as possible."

How foolish to seek artificial "beauty" of this sort, obnoxious from artistic and moral standpoints, when it is so easy to obtain a truly natural complexion by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which may be had at any drug store in original one-ounce package. This mercolized wax is so effective and so harmless, no one need think of using anything else for the purpose. Applied like cold cream at night, and washed off in the morning, it at once begins to show its remarkable rejuvenating effects. It gently absorbs the lifeless surface skin in tiny particles, gradually showing the fresher, livelier, beautiful underskin. Naturally it takes with it all surface defects like freckles, pimples, chaps, moth patches and liver spots.—ADV.

EMMA GOLDMAN'S CLAIMS ARE FALLACIOUS, PALMER ASSERTS

Attorney-General, Answering Senate Inquiry, Indicates Radical Soon Will Be Deported.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Replying to a Senate inquiry as to what had been done toward deporting Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, Attorney-General Palmer declared last night that the woman's claim to citizenship was "fallacious" and that Berkman, by his own admission, was an anarchist. The statement was taken to mean that the Government soon would attempt to send her back to Russia, where she was born.

Discussing Goldman's claim to citizenship, Palmer said she was 24 years old when her father was naturalized and that her husband obtained his citizenship through fraud, which canceled that claim. Declaring that both Mathew Schmidt and David Caplan, in prison for complicity in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, were members of the Goldman clan, he showed also that she advocated violence and had incited riots as early as 1893.

Palmer included in the statement a transcript of the confession of Leon Czolgosz, who shot President McKinley, in which he told of the influence of Emma Goldman's teachings had exercised on his life. Further investigation by Government agents proved that he frequently had consulted with her as to methods to be employed in destroying the Government.

The connection of both Berkman and Emma Goldman with the Bolshevik movement also was emphasized by Palmer. The activities of the Union of Russian Workers, said to be one of the most dangerous organizations in America, and against which the Government has directed a vigorous campaign, has been traced directly to the Goldman-Berkman propaganda headquarters, he said.

FORMER KAISER IS SEEKING AN AMERICAN BUYER FOR YACHT

Forty Wealthy New Yorkers Receive Letters Announcing That Craft, Built in U. S., Is for Sale.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern, erstwhile Emperor of Germany, is seeking an American purchaser for his famous schooner yacht Meteor III, after having apparently failed to dispose of it in Scandinavia, where it was advertised for sale last July for $45,000.

This became known today when 40 wealthy New York yacht men received letters from one of the former Kaiser's agents announcing that the craft, built in America "as a high tribute to the ability of American shipbuilding and a recognition of the high position the United States holds in yachting in the world," is on the market. Terms of sale would be sent on request, the letter added.

The Meteor III, conspicuous for many years at the regattas of Kiel and Cowes, was built at Shooter's Island and christened by Miss Alice Roosevelt, in 1902, with champagne from the former Kaiser's private cellar. Among those who attended the ceremony were the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Prince Henry of Prussia and officers high in rank in the American and German navies.

MILLIONAIRE NEW YORK MILL OWNER, 87, WEDS COUSIN, 62

William R. Thorne and Bride Have Made Their Home Together for Thirty Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—William R. Thorne, millionaire owner of knitting mills, 87 years old and seriously ill of double pneumonia, married his cousin, Miss Susan Thorne Knapp, on Friday morning in his New York residence, 14 West Seventeenth street. The bride and groom, with two other cousins, have made their home together for 30 years, dividing their time between New York and a country house in Cohoes. Of the latter town Thorne twice has been Mayor.

Mrs. Thorne is the daughter of the late Dr. Albert Knapp, a physician of New York, who retired to Greenwich, Conn., shortly before his death. He was a brother of Thorne's mother.

Thorne was born in this city, was graduated from Columbia in 1852. He was a bachelor. Mrs. Thorne is 25 years his junior. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arnold Carstensen of the Church of the Holy Rood.

BAR FOUND BENEATH SALOON

Policeman Says 4 Men Were Getting Drinks in Basement.

When a policeman saw five men come up the steps leading from a basement under Frank Reichert's saloon, 141 George street, yesterday afternoon, he investigated and, according to his report, he found a temporary bar rigged up in the basement and four customers being served with drinks there. When he started to gather the evidence someone turned out the lights.

He went out for reinforcements. When he and other policemen returned the lights were burning but most of the bottled goods had been removed, he reported. A quart of whisky and the same quantity of beer and wine were confiscated and Reichert was arrested.

MAN, CHIDED, KILLS HIMSELF

Wife Had Reproved Him for Showing Signs of Having Imbibed.

George Anger, 29 years old, a butcher, 3806 Carter avenue, shot and killed himself in a hallroom at his home at 6:50 p. m. yesterday, shortly after his wife had chided him for returning home showing signs of having imbibed too freely.

The wife and two sons, George, 4, and Wilbur, 2, were in the dining room at supper when they heard a shot and found Anger lying on the floor with a bullet through his heart.

Service Through Organization

THE only difference between big business and little business lies in the number of units of effort and the character of service rendered.

The laboring man is in business for himself. He renders a service by selling his time, energy and skill.

Big business is the grouping together of a great many units to render a greater service by co-ordinating the efforts of the individuals and selling the results of their combined time, energy and skill.

Up to a few years ago the general public did not understand the ideals of service underlying big business. What it did not understand, it distrusted and naturally condemned.

When the Allies decided to organize their armies on the basis of big business—for a common service—they began to get results, and the world saw the benefits to be derived from intelligent organization.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a big business, organized to render a useful service.

The objective of the Company is to manufacture the greatest number of useful products from crude petroleum, to distribute them so that they are available to all and to sell them at a minimum price.

The methods by which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders these services embrace the truest financial democracy, the most advanced merchandising practices and extensive scientific research.

These are intended to expand the usefulness of the Company as a public servant, by maintaining the quality of petroleum products manufactured at the highest standard, by making an adequate return to those who are investing their money or their time in the business of the Company and enabling the public to secure their requirements of such products at a minimum of expense.

It is this spirit of co-operation animating the Board of Directors which enables the Company to discharge its complete obligation as a public servant in a manner satisfactory to its patrons.

We were playing cards
Mr. and Mrs. Jones
My wife and I
And the ladies were chatting
About clothes
And the movies
And high prices
And what not
And my wife
Trumped-her-partner's ace
And he frowned
And she said
"O dear, how perfectly silly
Of me
You'll pardon me, won't you?"
And I said
"Come on and play cards."
And just then
The other lady
Led the wrong card
And said "Dear me
What a stupid "faux pas"
She called it "fox patch"
And her husband said
"Pay attention to the game
What is this anyhow
A sewing circle
Or something?"
And they started quarreling
Horribly
And the game was over
I started the Victrola
And my wife said
"What are you all
Going to give for Christmas
This year
We certainly can't Give much
Everything is so high"
And Mrs. Jones said
"We're in the same boat
Precisely.
But listen to me
I'm going to give you
An idea
You all save
Eagle Discount Stamps
Don't you?"
And we said
"Yes—surely—of course"
And she went on
To say
That each book of stamps
Is worth $2.50
In merchandise
Or $2.00 in cash
That these books
Are redeemable
At any store that gives
Eagle Discount Stamps
That a gift
Of one or more
Of these filled books
Would be a token
Of love and affection
Not quickly got
Nor lightly given
Each Stamp a kindly thought
Each page a tribute
To the GOD of Thrift
The whole a symbol
Of things worth while.
Good gracious
I didn't think
Any living bridge player
Could talk like that
And so at Christmas
We're going to give
Eagle Stamp Books
It won't cost us
Anything
And I've even forgiven her
For the "fox patch."

19 BURGLARIES ARE REPORTED IN NIGHT

23 Hams and 50 Pounds of Hog Jaws Taken From Butcher Shop.

Nineteen burglaries were reported to the police last night.

Three stores in a building at 1239 North Thirteenth street were broken into. Twenty-three hams and 50 pounds of hog jaws were taken from the butcher shop of Paul Weisner, $50 of tobacco from the store of Nathan Conetski and a safe, in which there was nothing of value, was forced in the B. M. Frank grocery.

George Martin, 2000A Shenandoah avenue hid $950 under a dining room tabe and $50 under a sideboard in his home before he went out for the evening. A burglar broke in, found a mesh bag containing $18 and some trinkets but failed to find the hidden cash.

The homes of Mrs. Frank Williams, Sebastian Zipf and Louis Dewerthen, 3645, 3871 and 3835 Humphrey street, were robbed of $400 in jewelry and $8 while the families were absent.

Louis Kravin, 1310 Biddle street, returning to his home at 9 p. m., encountered a stranger on the stairway. "Gee, I thought I was the only one here," remarked the stranger as he fled past Kravin, who found $100 and $200 worth of jewelry gone when he reached his rooms.

Other burglaries were the homes of Elmore Bostwick, 5155 Waterman avenue, jewelry valued at $150 and $27; Chauncey Adams, 5941 McPherson avenue, $75 in jewelry and $50; Charles E. Rogers, 6134 Pershing avenue, $100 in jewelry and $2; Mrs. Adeline Boswell, 3851 North Fourteenth street, $50 and some street car tokens; Frank Withum, 2930 South Jefferson avenue; Albert Zedestrom, 3134 Geyer avenue; Arthur Sauter, 3305 Pestalozzi street; Abe David, 1501A Wash street, and John A. Morobitz, 8500 Concord avenue, $1200 worth of jewelry and $50 cash.

Raymond H. Marshall, 4210 Labadie avenue, arrived home at 11 p. m. in time to frighten away two burglars who had gather up jewelry valued at $300. The men fled through a rear door, dropping two handkerchiefs in which the jewelry had been tied.

TENTH WARD FAVORS SOUTHERN APPROACH FOR FREE BRIDGE

Association Decides Northern Approach Would Put Bridge at Mercy of the Terminal.

A resolution supporting the proposal to build a southern approach instead of a northern approach to the Free Bridge on the Illinois side was adopted yesterday by the Tenth Ward Improvement Association.

A northern approach is contemplated to connect with the Alton & Southern Railroad, while Frank H. Gerhart's plan for a southern approach would link the Free Bridge with Eastern trunk lines directly. The plan to link with the Alton & Southern was called a measure putting the bridge at the mercy of the Terminal Railroad Association. Gerhart pointed out the need of speed in settling the problem, because the congressional grant for completion of the bridge will expire in 15 months.

Another resolution of the association condemned the action of the Missouri Public Service Commission in extending wartime rates of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

ODEON AUDIENCE GIVES HEARTY DEMONSTRATION TO GUSIKOFF

Concertmaster Offers Some of His Best Violin Playing—Scores Unable to Get Seats.

Michel Gusikoff, concertmaster of the Symphony Orchestra, offered some of the best violin playing he has done in this city at yesterday afternoon's popular concert at the Odeon, from which scores of music-lovers were turned away after all the seats had been sold. His number was the favorite concerto in G minor, No. 1, by Max Bruch. The youthful performer was especially effective in the songful second movement, which was delivered with rare feeling. The audience gave him a most hearty demonstration.

The orchestral program, enjoyably played, consisted of the overture to "Masaniello," two instrumented piano pieces by Chopin; a colorful rhapsody, "A Night in Seville," by Albeniz, heard here for the first time; Gluck's lovely Dance of the Happy Spirits, from "Orpheus and Eurydice," Berlioz's energetic "Rakoczy March," and several encores.

SIX TEACHERS ARE COMMUNISTS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Discovery has been made that six teachers in the public schools of this city are members of the Communist party of America, it is announced by State Deputy Attorney-General Berger. A check-up of membership cards seized in recent raids on radical headquarters established the identities of the teachers. The teachers, when questioned by the Lusk Legislative Committee, admitted, it was said, that they were "perfectly familiar with the principles and doctrines of communism," but denied having taught its doctrines to their pupils.

William L. Ettinger, City Superintendent of Schools, announced that he will ask for immediate dismissal of the six teachers, who are women. Ettinger said that, although the number of revolutionary radicals among New York's 23,000 teachers is small, they must be "cleaned out" completely.

MEXICANS CHARGE W. O. JENKINS WITH CONNIVANCE IN KIDNAPING

Puebla Officials Hold U. S. Consular Agent Under Technical Arrest for Hearing Today.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17. — Dispatches from Puebla assert that William O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent at Puebla, although technically under arrest, charged with false statements in connection with his recent abduction by the bandit leader, Federico Cordova, by order of the State's Attorney, is given freedom of the entire city, with no bail required, the officers accepting his word he will not leave Puebla until court proceedings are completed.

Jenkins, following his arrest, requested to be lodged in jail until the matter was finally settled, but the officials refused. It is expected a preliminary hearing will take place today.

Officials charge that Jenkins was not abducted by the bandit, but was in connivance with him, according to information received here.

The arrest of Jenkins came after 12 peons had sworn to statements before a Judge in Puebla, declaring that Jenkins had been seen in company with Cordova under no restraint and in apparent understanding with his alleged captors.

Advices received in Washington from Mexico City Nov. 7 stated that Jenkins had been cleared of all suspicion of complicity in the kidnaping by bandits on Oct. 17. The Judge investigating the abduction, the dispatches added, took occasion to praise Jenkins as a friend of the Mexican people and a respected member of the community, in which he had lived for a number of years.

Jenkins was held for $150,000 ransom and the United States Government, demanding his release, sent what was said to have been the strongest note ever dispatched in a dispute between the two republics. Jenkins was released on Oct. 26, after his personal attorney, Senor Mestre, had paid the ransom to the bandit leader.

SAVES SELF IN FALL INTO MINE

Man Grabs Cable 40 Feet Down, Hangs on 260 Feet From Bottom.

BENTON, Ill., Nov. 17.—R. E. Thompson of Zeigler, Ill., a top hand at No. 2 mine of the Zeigler Coal Co., stepped upon a board over a shaft the other night, the board gave way and Thompson plunged downward head first.

After falling 40 feet his hands came in contact with a cable, which he grasped, and he hung there, 260 feet from the bottom of the mine, a half hour, until workmen could be lowered and remove him from the cable. A few years ago, when working in a shaft, Thompson fell and caught a 60-penny spike with one hand and hung on until he could be released by fellow workmen.

Two Idaho Miners Caught in Cave-in.

By the Associated Press.

WALLACE, Idaho, Nov. 17.—Two miners, P. P. Grant and Emil Sayko, were crushed or imprisoned in a cave-in which occurred in the Hunter mine at Mullan, about seven miles north of this city, according to information reaching here. Rescue parties are trying to reach the men.

AMENDMENT GIVES ROADS SWITCHING FACILITIES AT PORTS

House Adopts Proposal of Representative Bland, 98 to 57, in Considering Each Bill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The House in committee of the whole considering the Esch railroad bill adopted today an amendment urged in the interest of the inland waterways by Representative Bland of Kansas City. The vote was 98 to 57. The amendment provides that waterways may use railroad switching facilities at ports and absorb the charges out of their port-to-port rate or proportional through rate without thereby being brought under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Representative Small of North Carolina, favoring the amendment, said that if it were not adopted a situation seriously inimical to the boat lines would be created.

Lepers Would Honor Roosevelt.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The leper colony at Kalaurpa, Hawaii, tomorrow will begin a membership campaign of its part for the Roosevelt Memorial Association, it is announced here. PICKPOCKET ESCAPES WHEN MOTORMAN BARS DETECTIVE

A pickpocket who, policemen say, was working yesterday on street cars operating on Eads Bridge, eluded the police because of the adherence of a motorman to the rule against permitting any person to enter the car by the front door.

A. W. Crank, starter at the Eads Bridge trolley station, telephoned police headquarters that a negro pickpocket was on a Stockyards car. He gave the number of the car and description of the man. Detectives Green and Mills were sent to Collinsville avenue and Broadway to arrest the negro. The motorman refused to permit Detective Mills to enter by the front entrance, and while he was trying to work his way to the front of the car, through the rear entrance, the suspect alighted.

A negro answering the description was arrested later at the Relay Depot by Patrolman Wolfbrandt. He had $26.88 and a pocketbook containing a railroad ticket to Detroit, issued to B. A. Hughes, who attended a Y. M. C. A. convention in St. Louis. The prisoner gave his name as Ernest Hubert of 122 North Thirteenth street, St. Louis.

SEE THE PACIFIC COAST THIS WINTER—AND SEE IT ALL

The climate of the Pacific slope—from British Columbia on the North to the Mexican border on the South—is mild and pleasant all winter, varying in degree of mildness as one journeys North or South.

Rose and geranium weather, for which warm ocean currents are responsible, makes it possible for the visitor—whether in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles or San Diego—whether motoring along the Columbia Highway or El Camino Real—to view the scenic wonders of the Far West in comfort, and to engage in all out-of-door sports, as in springtime.

And the scenery of the entire trans-Sierra region is so varied—with its cloud-crowned peaks, its mountain-born streams, its waterfalls, its flower-carpeted valleys and ocean beaches—that no part of it should be missed.

En route visit the National Parks, National Monuments, and other winter resorts. See Hawaii, too.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON MAY LOSE HIS SIGHT IN ONE EYE

Specialist Says It Is Permanently Impaired as Result of Injuries Inflicted by London Students.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, the American Anti-Saloon League organizer, may lose the sight of an eye following demonstrations last week by students. A second specialist has been consulted and another operation has been performed. His sight has been permanently impaired, it is said.

The college students concerned in the "ragging of Johnson, purpose to take up a subscription and pay the expenses of Johnson for his doctor and nursing.

"This will not be done as a recompense, because he was not injured by a student, but to show practical sympathy with him, although he thoroughly deserved the 'ragging,'" said one of the leaders of the demonstration against Johnson.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone

GUS.—President Wilson was born and raised in Staunton, Va.

PEARL BUTTONS.—We can not advise you regarding horoscopes.

MISS J.—The poetry you refer to is the "First Snow-Fall" by James Russell Lowell.

X.—We would suggest that you use benzine to clean your ties. Be very careful not to use it near fire.

READER.—There are no statistics compiled on the passenger traffic in and out of St. Louis over the steam, electric or auto routes.

P. D. Q.—You must become naturalized in the regular way, according to an old opinion of an Attorney-General of the United States.

ANXIOUS.—The Consul from Cuba in St. Louis is Luis Sturla, in the Fullerton Building. The United States Consul-General in Cuba is Heaton W. Harris, Habana, Cuba.

X. Y. Z.—The number of murders in St. Louis for the periods named were as follows: 1894 116, 1915 115, 1916 125, 1917 165, 1918, 138, 1919 to Nov. 1, 128. There are no statistics to make a comparison of rural and urban murders.

YOURS TRULY.—Bob Fitzsimmons won the heavyweight championship from Jim Corbett in 14 rounds, on March 17, 1897, at Carson City, Nev. Jim Jeffries on June 9, 1899, at Coney Island, knocked out Fitzsimmons in 11 rounds.

X. Y. Z.—An oily condition of the scalp is usually the forerunner of a loss of hair. Brush the scalp briskly every night with a stiff brush, then, after massaging, rub vaseline into the scalp with the finger tips. (B) The State law requires a merchant to take out a license. The Tax Collector of your county or of St. Louis will furnish it for you. St. Louis city ordinances require the License Collector to issue a merchant's license. The city ordinances also require manufacturer to take out a license. See the License Collector at the city hall.

AN ANXIOUS ENTERTAINER.—At a hard-time party the guests usually come in their old clothes. You could offer a prize for the funniest costume. You could decorate with autumn leaves, crepe paper and fall flowers. Since it is a hard-time party why not have a red tablecloth on the table? Serve sandwiches, coffee, cookies potato salad if desired. A farmer party could be carried out in the same manner, having the guests dress as farmers. Here is a list of games that could be played: Jacob and Rachel, French Blind Man's Buff, relay races, Midnight, Last Couple Out. You can find these and many more in Bancroft's Book of Games at the Public Library.

A DAILY READER.—Chocolate Pop Corn Balls: 1½ cups of sugar, 1-3 cup of glucose, 2-3 cup of water, 1-3 cup of molasses, 3 tablespoonfuls of butter, 3 squares of chocolate, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla extract, about 4 quarts of popped corn well salted. Set the sugar, glucose and water over the fire, stir until the sugar is melted, then wash down the sides of the saucepan, cover and let boil 3 or 4 minutes, then remove the cover and let cook without stirring to the hard ball degree; add the molasses and butter and stir constantly until brittle in cold water; remove from the fire and, as soon as the bubbling ceases, add the chocolate, melted over hot water, and the vanilla; stir, to mix the chocolate evenly through the candy, then pour onto the popped corn, mixing the two together meanwhile. With buttered hands lightly roll the mixture into small balls. Press together only just enough to hold it in shape. Discard all the hard kernels in the corn. Have the corn warm and in a warm bowl. It is not necessary to use the chocolate if you do not care to.

MAY.—Mayonnaise Dressing: 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar, few grains cayenne, yolks 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1½ cups olive oil. Mix dry ingredients, add egg yolks and when well mixed add ½ teaspoon of vinegar. Add oil gradually, add first drop by drop, and stir constantly. As mixture thickens, thin with vinegar or lemon juice. Add oil, and vinegar or lemon juice alternately, until all is used, stirring or beating constantly. If oil is added too rapidly, dressing will have a curdled appearance. A smooth consistency may be restored by taking yolk of another egg and adding curdled mixture slowly to it. It is desirable to have bowl containing mayonnaise placed in a larger bowl of crushed ice, to which a small quantity of water has been added. Olive oil for making mayonnaise should always be thoroughly chilled. A silver fork, wire whisk, small wooden spoon or egg beater may be used as preferred. Mayonnaise should be stiff enough to hold its shape. It soon liquifies when added to meat or vegetables; therefore it should be added just before serving time.

W. P. C.—The lights you speak of are the electric arc lights. The electric arc is the effect produced when an electric current is maintained between 2 electrodes or terminals at a gap or opening in the circuit. This phenomenon involves the production of light and the generation of heat. The terminals in the arc lamps are made of carbon and are generally placed vertically above one another. The positive carbon is distinguished by the formation of a crater. The negative carbon takes a pointed shape, but is consumed only ½ as fast as the positive. The positive and the negative carbons must be a certain distance apart and as the passing of an electric current from one to the other consumes the carbon some sort of a device is necessary to feed the carbon. The negative is usually stationary and the positive is generally made to feed downward. This is done by a clutch whose position is controlled by an electromagnet. In a well-regulated lamp this feeding occurs so gradually that it does not affect perceptibly the steadiness of the light. Therefore the flickering which occurs in some of the lamps is due to poor regulation of the feeding apparatus.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reforms, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Mr. Fess' Theory of Democracy.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

At the Coliseum, at the recent conference, Hon. S. D. Fess addressed the Missouri State Teachers' Association. In this address the Congressman expressed his admiration for and sympathy with the Jeffersonian charter of democracy, which, he justly said, was a more glorious policy of liberty than had been given to any other people on the face of the earth. Immediately after this assertion, Mr. Fess proceeded to denounce the spirit of unrest which today permeates the country and to propose remedies for such unrest. The Congressman evidently thinks that the foreigner is the cause of this turbulent spirit, for he suggests that Congress pass a law prohibiting public meetings unless such meetings be conducted in the English tongue; that newspapers written in any other language but English should not be circulated through the mails; that aliens who do not take their second papers of citizenship, after having received first papers, should be deported. He also intimated that all aliens be carefully watched and if suspicion falls upon them, "deport them." These suggestions, strange to say, received much applause from the educators of this State.

Is this consistently following the glorious policy of Thomas Jefferson? Would Thomas Jefferson countenance such proposals as Mr. Fess makes? Would not Jefferson, who feared "too much Government," denounce as autocratic and "Bolshevistic" (had he known the term) the program of any country which denies freedom of speech and press to any of its people?

Is Mr. Fess getting at the root of the trouble when he deports the foreigner? If the alien sees the defects of our administration and cries against them, shall we not listen and profit thereby? Can we, in the name of democracy, close our doors to any man who dares think differently than we do; who strikes a note of criticism where he thinks criticism is justified? Is it not rather the duty of each teacher, each legislator, each social worker, each individual engaged in a responsible occupation to solicit criticism, even denunciation, in order that he may make changes for the improvement of his occupation? Should not our country welcome criticism, which, if duly considered, may help it to attain and maintain those lofty principles for which Thomas Jefferson so bravely fought?

I write in defense of democracy, not in defense of the foreigner. Let us make our country so fine, and beautiful, and democratic, Mr. Fess, that it will be above criticism. Gagging the public and the press will not accomplish this.

A MISSOURI SCHOOL TEACHER.

School Tax Publicity.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I want to thank you and the management of the Post-Dispatch for the very effective publicity and the strong editorial support given to the cause of the school tax campaign which has just closed. The assistance you have given has been of the very greatest value. I do not believe the measure would have carried had it not been for your help.

JOHN W. WITHERS,
Superintendent Board of Education.

The Greatness of Armistice Day.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We are very much surprised, indeed, that Nov. 11, the most wonderful day in history all over the world, should not be declared by Congress as a legal holiday. Why should this great day not be celebrated, even more than July 4, as this day is really more interesting to the present generation than July 4?

It is due our dear boys who fought so bravely to have Congress put aside this day and honor it; or are all the boys who fought in this war, and their work, forgotten?

I think if you will publish this little article you will find almost everyone of the same opinion; at least anyone who thinks anything of our boys will be of this opinion.

I hope Congress will wake up.

A PROMINENT ST. LOUISAN.

The Post-Dispatch Exhibit.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The exhibit of the Post-Dispatch at the Arts and Crafts Exposition was a source of great interest and profit to the visitors, and as one of them, I want to testify, if permitted, to the fine impression it made on me.

It seems to me that your friends in the St. Louis trade territory might also find considerable pleasure in seeing the "movies" of your big, fine plant.

D. A. BOWMAN,
Bowman, Cost & Co.

Pop Patriotism.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why is "The Star-Spangled Banner" omitted from the popular concerts? We attended the opening concert and are voicing the disappointment of many when Mr. Zack began his concert without playing the national anthem.

Yes, we are at peace—but in the midst of a revolutionary condition as serious as in war times. Patriotism needs encouraging as never before, and what inspires it more than the prayer of "The Star-Spangled Banner"?

A PATRIOT.

REOPEN THE COAL MINES.

The coal strike order has been rescinded, but few of the striking miners have returned. The strike order was rescinded strictly in accordance with the Court's instructions. It is understood that there was no hint in the rescinding order that the men return to work.

The expected request of the operators that the union officials ask the miners to return to work under the rescinding order during negotiations seems reasonable. That is the spirit of the rescinding order. The miners would lose nothing by returning to work, because they would reap the benefit of the settlement of wage adjustments agreed upon by the conference at Washington. The country would be saved the suffering of a coal famine, which was intended to be the full effect of the rescinding order.

If orderly processes of settling labor grievances and demands are to be adopted and used, they will be in large measure failures if they do not prevent the shutting down of industries by either employers or wage earners. The chief beneficial effect of orderly processes is the avoidance of interruption of industrial activities and the continuation of production.

While the Government cannot and would not attempt to force the miners to resume work, the order being directed wholly against the concerted action of organizations and their officials, yet the order applies morally, at least, to the members of organizations affected. Their obligation to respect and obey it in good faith is clear.

Labor cannot profit by playing with the public and mocking the law and its processes. Union men cannot win by disregarding moral as well as legal obligations and duties. Good faith and obedience to the spirit and the letter of the law is necessary to public sympathy and support.

A NO-SMOKING ORDINANCE.

The traffic manager of the United Railways says the company will ask for an ordinance forbidding smoking in its cars during the winter. Notices against smoking are ineffective. The great majority of patrons pleasantly observe the injunction, but the individuals who refuse to comply with the request are so numerous as to constitute a nuisance. Hence the appeal to the law.

It ought not to be necessary to pass such an ordinance. The reasonableness of such a regulation during the season of closed cars is not debatable. The atmosphere of a crowded street car, when every window is closed tight, is bad enough at best. Smoking adds not only to the general discomfort, but increases the danger from congestion and impure air.

The person who smokes under such circumstances may or may not imagine he is standing out for his personal rights, but the fact is he refuses to recognize the rights of the majority. If he will not voluntarily meet the requirements of considerate citizenship he should be compelled to do so by law.

The ordinance should be passed.

COMPEL OR ABOLISH MILITARY TRAINING.

Though opposed to compulsory military training, Col. John H. Parker, in his talk to the National Council of Women, recognized the value of training. He proposed a year of instruction, part military and part vocational, for young men after graduation. The course, he thinks, should be elective.

But if optional how many young men would elect it? Any answer is, of course, conjectural. It is a fair presumption, however, that the young men in most urgent moral need of such training—young men with little, if any, conviction as to their obligations to the Government—would not enroll. The rigor of such a course, too, would likely repel young men below par physically, and, therefore, with little stomach for discipline. But the physically fit and, for the most part, with well defined notions as to what they owe the Government, would be sure to take this work. The whole history of raising volunteer armies warrants those deductions. The volunteer system, though beautiful in rhetoric, permits the slacker to shirk in actual practice.

As the Post-Dispatch sees it, the question of military training is not one of compulsion or option. The question, rather, is whether we should or should not have military training. If we are sure we shall never have another war, then perhaps such training may be abolished. But if the possibility of another war exists, then our recent experience urges compulsory universal military training, and does it in solemn and tragic accents.

That the lesson of our terrible experience has not been learned is deplorably true. An instance in point is the question asked by Senator Kirby of Arkansas the other day in objection to Gen. Pershing's plan for six months of training. The Senator wanted to know why such a period of training was necessary when with three months' training we had created an army that was more than a match for the crack troops of Germany. The answer is that we didn't do any such thing. Besides the training in our camps at home our soldiers who were rushed to France were given additional instruction there under teachers extraordinarily competent and direct from the red school of war. Yet the military education of our troops was still incomplete. The finishing touches were put on in a quiet sector and even then their preparation left much to be desired. And the cost of it all, according to authoritative opinion to which previous reference has been made, was this—that instead of 50,000 our dead might have been less than half of that number had they been properly trained.

HOTELS FOR WORKING GIRLS.

The total inadequacy of our hotels for working girls was discussed at a luncheon on Thursday by persons who have given special attention to the subject.

Even if those with a knowledge of the facts did not assure us of this lack, we would know it exists from the course of recent events. Many years ago far-seeing St. Louisans of philanthropic impulse began to make provision for this need in the purchase and dedication of suitable property and establishment of endowments. But the last provision of this sort on a large scale was made more than eight years ago, when the new Y. W. C. A. was built.

What has been happening since? The increase of young women in commercial and industrial employment has been amazing. During the years of the war alone this increase ran into the thousands. Many of these young women come here from other towns, a large proportion of them from much smaller towns. Consequences of the most vital nature in the future depend on these young women being provided with wholesome food, with cleanly, sanitary accommodations and especially with homelike surroundings—in short, with the shelter and protection of dwellings which reproduce the home atmosphere and influence as nearly as possible under institutional auspices.

It need surprise no one that hundreds of young women who apply for quarters at five or six places now maintained for housing young women have to be turned away every month. Where do they go? Is their ultimate refuge cheerless boarding houses and associations of indifferent or actually harmful influence? What are the anxieties of mothers whose daughters are forced by poverty to seek as strangers their fortune in the city?

Hotel homes at moderate prices, specially designed to give such young women the protection they ought to have are a very obvious and urgent St. Louis need.

THE WILDCAT FAD.

The Savings Division of the United States Treasury Department is doing its best to keep the "wildcats" from getting all the money in the country, but it has a hard and thankless job. Wildcat speculation is the great national pastime now and nobody thanks the Government for interfering with the game. Everybody who has a little money to lose is losing it. All that they get for it is the thrill of a great anticipation and the thud of a great disillusionment.

But disillusionment does not cure. If it did, there would be some hope. The wise wildcatters know that the victim who has been stung is the easiest to sting again. He keeps on "investing" as long as he has a dollar or a Liberty Bond to lose. It is like playing the lottery, or the races, with this difference: In the lottery and the races some win.

Promoters of phony enterprises and peddlers of worthless stocks seem to vie with each other in the preposterousness of their propositions, with the certainty that the one making the most unbelievable representations will be most believed.

There is no use of trying to propose anything so outlandish that "investors" will not fall for it. It can't be done. It has been tried. The story is that a newspaper in an Eastern city printed a satirical warning against unsafe speculation and included a mock prospectus of "The Munchausen Philosopher's Stone and Gull Creek Oil Co.," with a capital stock of $4,000,000,000 and a working capital of $37, paying dividends semi-daily except on Sundays.

Something about that appealed to speculators. It may have been the $4,000,000,000 or the piety of the outfit implied in the candid announcement that no dividends would be paid on Sundays. Anyway, a lot of people wanted to know where they could get some of the stock.

The Government is offering Thrift Stamps, Savings Stamps, "Baby Bonds" and new Treasury Savings Certificates in $100 and $1000 denominations. The only fault that can be found with them is that they are safe. They would sell better if there was a chance to lose something on them.

THE POET REVIEWS SOME OF HIS EARLIER VERSE.

Ah, let me think; these lines to Marie,
Now, who in the world, was she?
The verse is dark with intent to kill
Myself at her feet, but I'm living still.
Well, a poet must somehow employ his ink.
And these words were as warm as blood, I think,
When I penned them to Marie.

And on this page are the verses to Jane.
As I scan them o'er I can't refrain
A smile at my vow to "—forget you never,
In fact to love you forever and ever.
If you scorn my love, my heart will bleed,
Ah, I was very young, indeed,
When I wrote those lines to Jane.

And, reading, I wonder how on earth
My foolish brain could have given birth
To these lies. But I guess I shall review,
In years to come, my poems to you,
And smile, and murmur, "I declare
I've forgotten the very shade of her hair."
But they're too fresh, now, for mirth!

A FABLE.

Once upon a time there was a Baron who lived in a very strongly fortified castle upon a hill.

His position was impregnable.

One day his neighbors called upon him and suggested that instead of the system by which each man had his stronghold and his own little army, they organize a society by which a sheriff would be elected for the purpose of keeping peace in the county.

The Baron said: "That is all right, but I shall go in reservedly."

"What will your reservations be like?" one of his neighbors asked.

"I must reserve the right to maintain my own army and fortress, irrespective of the sheriff and his deputies. I have more at stake than the rest of you gentlemen."

"That is quite true," one of them answered. "You have more at stake, but unless you went in with us we could not organize a society. You are the strongest among us. We need your support and co-operation."

The Baron thought it over for some moments.

"I think you are right," he finally said. "While it is true that I shall be taking a much greater risk than anyone else takes, it is also true that my support of an organized society means too much for me to stay out. I will come in. The sheriff can protect me. We shall be getting somewhere."

"Then you will not insist upon any reservations whatever?" they asked.

"None," answered the Baron.

Thus we came out of feudalism.

AN EPISTLE TO GOLFERS.

The minister of the Church of the Messiah has no reproach for golfers who play golf on Sunday. He is a golfer himself, and if he were unable to play week days he would, if he were not also too busy Sundays, take time then for such a heavenly exercise.

So he announces short evening services, where people do their own singing, and the minister doesn't take all the time himself, mainly for people who could get to church evenings, and can't mornings. He thinks that golfers may feel like backing him up; perhaps they will realize that it is only fair play to give the church a chance—especially a church which realizes the modern situation, and tries to meet it. There is such a thing as a golfer's religion. If he hasn't a religion, he needs one. It might help his game. It would surely help his life.

TO THE CHRYSANTHEMUM.

THE springtime comes with all its fragrant flowers;
In summer months the beauteous rose appears,
And then you come in the autumnal hours,
And give a glory to the dying years.

The withered leaves drop from their native bough,
Or, varied color, make the autumn hue,
While, fresh with life, you come to teach us how
The flowers, like HOPE, are ever born anew.

Like lovely guests, when comes the parting hour,
They crave to leave some sweet words that endear—
Chrysanthemum blooms fully into flower
To leave a mem'ry of the passing year.

Thus be our lives, when we shall travel on,
And walk across the vast eternity—
Let memories of some kindly deeds we've done
Leave Death with naught of sadd'ning mystery.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

BUT WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

From the New York World.

THE Senate, having adopted the rewritten, revised and amended reservation to Article X of the covenant of the league of nations, perhaps Henry Cabot Lodge or some of his associates will tell us precisely what it means.

The reservation as finally accepted by the Senate is as follows:

"The United States assumes no obligations to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere in controversies between nations—whether members of the league or not—under the provisions of Article X, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose unless in any particular case the Congress, which, under the Constitution, has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

Ever since the original Lodge reservation to Article X was recast, the World has been trying to ascertain the meaning of the substitute. President Wilson, in his speech at Cheyenne, declared in respect to a similar reservation that if it should be adopted, "I would be obliged as the executive of the United States to regard it as a rejection of the treaty." Whether the President was right or wrong about it seems to be a matter of interpretation.

The reservation at once raises a conflict between the executive and legislative authority of the United States, to which, under the provisions of the Lodge preamble, "at least three of the four principal allied and associate powers, to-wit: Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan," must give their formal approval before the resolution of ratification can take effect.

The conduct of foreign relations is intrusted by the Constitution to the President. Many Presidents have "interfered in controversies between nations." Wherein lies the power of the Senate by virtue of a reservation to a treaty to take from the President this vested authority?

The reservation further declares that Congress alone can "authorize the employment of the military and naval forces of the United States," which is not true. Congress alone can create and continue the military and naval forces of the United States, but the Constitution makes the President "the Commander in Chief of the army and navy." On many occasions Presidents have employed the army and navy of the United States without regard to Congress in matters that fell short of actual warfare. Can that inherent power be annulled by a Senate reservation to a treaty, even though the reservation be accepted by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan?

Unquestionably the Lodge reservation on Article X is intended as a knife-thrust at the covenant of the league of nations, just as the President has said. In addition to being mischievous and malicious, its tone is both insolent and arrogant, but aside from its insolence and arrogance, where does it leave the United States in respect to the league of nations?

With or without the league the President has all the powers that have been vested in him by the Constitution. With or without the league, Congress alone can declare war. That is fundamental. What, then, does the reservation to Article X signify? Wherein can it limit the executive authority under the Constitution and wherein can it delegate to Congress a power over foreign relations that Congress does not possess?

The Senate has reserved a sneer at the liberties of small nations, it has reserved a possible controversy at some future time between the executive and legislative branches of the Government, but what has it actually accomplished in the way of restricting the action of the United States in a league of nations? Stripped of all the vain-glorious pretense, what does the reservation of Article X mean, stated in language that would withstand the scrutiny of the United States Supreme Court?

Fashions at the Capital

The Well-Dressed Woman of Smart Society, What She Wears, the Time and the Place.

By Margaret Wade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.

ACCORDING to a Washington hostess of distinction and experience, the coming and going of royalty, both Belgian and British, has left a trail of disappointed ambitions and great social unrest in high places, which is likely to affect the season to the disadvantage of each of the many circles making up the capital's Vanity Fair.

For we are to have a social season, regardless of a closed White House, a much depleted diplomatic corps and some persons say a much divided Cabinet.

While Mrs. Wilson continues in almost constant attention to her husband, Miss Wilson, and occasionally Mrs. McAdoo, who is a frequent visitor to the White House, are accepting invitations and seeing their personal friends in a cheerful fashion that leads to the hope of a revival of White House hospitality with the coming of the new year.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall have taken a larger apartment at a prominent hotel for the express purpose of entertaining the official world, and according to a Senator's wife in a position to know, Mrs. Marshall has not been spoiled by short experience as hostess to royalty. The well poised head of this lady from Indiana having stood the test better than many lesser lights identified with the several official parties attached first to the King and Queen of the Belgians and more recently to the Prince of Wales.

While many smart gowns ordered as far back as midsummer to wear in the presence of the royal visitors are hanging still unworn in their dainty wrappings, Mrs. Marshall has had several opportunities to wear the golden gown of tulle and metallic tissue which she received from her American modiste just in time for the dinner in honor of King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Brabant—which latter is the official title of the youthful Crown Prince, a veteran of the world war at the age of 17.

This golden gown, worn again in the past week at one of the dinners for the Prince of Wales, is very close as to the foundation skirt with bolts and bolts of tulle wrapped and draped about the figure, then allowed to fall into a long graceful train. The drapery on the lower part of the skirt and the entire train being richly embroidered in chrysanthemums of gold thread.

Mrs. Baker, wife of Secretary of War, is also wearing a dinner gown, showing the effect of the royal visits, inasmuch as this has a long panel train while Mrs. Baker has throughout her Washington career shown a distinct preference for round skirts, six inches or more from the ground.

This new and very becoming gown is of white satin with long tissue overdress finished in unspotted ermine, with train lined in pale blue hung from the shoulders. The decolletage is V shape and the top of the gown richly embroidered in pearls.

THE fall in temperature is most acceptable to the many fashionable women who patronized the famous sale and exhibit of furs in original designs of the latest Paris model conducted by Mrs. Roscoe Bulmer for one week only, with a $75,000 sable coat, reliably reported as the most valuable garment in the world today, what might be called Exhibit A.

Mrs. Bulmer, born a Miss Poor of Washington, a great belle in the gay season that saw the debut of her friend and contemporary, the former Miss Alice Roosevelt, is the widow of Commander Roscoe C. Bulmer, U. S. N., who died last summer while on foreign service.

The exhibit in a downtown hotel was by card, and the patrons practically everybody of prominence from Mrs. Wilson to the season's debutantes.

Mrs. Wilson, while unable to attend in person by reason of the President's illness, sent a request to have certain garments submitted to her at the White House, with the result that she purchased one of the very latest cloak models in moleskin. This is an ideal garment covering the figure in very graceful lines with smart high collar effect produced when desired by the manipulation of several loose ends that hang from an invisible yoke line when the cloak is worn open.

No one purchased the sable coat, every skin of which is "a crown sable," but a mink coat of very rich coloring and quality made upon similar lines, and to the uninitiated quite as good to look at, found a purchaser in Mrs. W. A. Moon of Streator, Ill. This is a super garment to the knees, tailored with the precision of the finest broadcloth or velvet, and lined throughout with metal brocade with a border of 12 inches or more in flowered brocade rich as the finest embroidery.

Mrs. Gillett, wife of the Speaker, is wearing a beautiful broad scarf of ermine, purchased from this same stock while squirrel coats in chic models and any variety of neck pieces are appearing each day as a result of this sale.

THE vogues of embroidery and hand stitching of every description which extends even to furs, is seen to advantage on a blue serge gown which Miss Lane, daughter of the Secretary of the Interior, is wearing to the debutante luncheons which are a preliminary to the teas and balls planned for these favored maidens.

Miss Lane, one of the beauties of this garden of buds, is a tall and slender brunette and her chic luncheon frock the reliable dark blue serge, but so heavily covered in silk embroidery and the fine shoe string braid as to leave comparatively little of the material visible.

The model is a long-waisted straight tunic with cord and tassel girdle, falling low in front. The neck is high finished in a modish lace jabot and the sleeves and presumably the invisible under skirt of satin. All in dark blue except that in the embroidery on the top of the gown gold threads are introduced. A telling touch of the sleeves is a succession of tiny silk tassels following the outer seam from elbow to wrist.

With this is worn an ultra smart draped hat in flame colored velvet, a round soft shape totally untrimmed except for one large pearl-headed hat pin.

MRS. HOUSEWIFE, DO YOU KNOW THE CHEAP AND NUTRITIOUS BEAN?

Legumes Make Hearty and Nourishing Dishes; Can Be Occasionally Substituted for Meat; Some Tested Recipes for Use of Beans in Diet.

BEANS, though higher in price than they were several years ago, are still among the cheaper foods that can be bought today. They are one of the cheapest sources of protein and may be used to help supply this valuable food constituent in the diet, according to United States Department of Agriculture specialists. They are known chiefly as a meat substitute dish. A cup of baked beans, in which a third of a cup of dried beans are used, furnishes as much protein as a quarter of a pound of sirloin steak. Obviously, the third of a cup of dried beans is much the cheaper to purchase. A pound of beef as purchased usually has some refuse in the form of skin, bone and gristle, while a pound of beans has practically no refuse. From this standpoint, therefore, as well as the difference in price, the housewife who finds her food allowance growing low will do well to use beans often in place of meat.

The cheaper legumes, beans, peas, etc., should not be depended upon as the sole source of protein for a great length of time. Milk, cheese, eggs or meat should furnish some of the protein in a week's dietary.

There is little difference in food value among the many common varieties of beans, with the exception of the soy bean, which is richer in protein and in fat than the ordinary beans. All legumes should be thoroughly cooked. Long cooking at moderate heat is best.

Baked Beans.

A favorite and standard recipe for baking beans is the following: Soak the beans overnight, then rinse and boil them until the skins crack when blown upon, but the beans are not quite soft. Use one-half pound of salt pork to one quart of beans. Cut the pork nearly through the rind and add before boiling the beans. After boiling, pour into the bean pot, insert the pork, the cut rind being level with the top of the beans. Add a pint of the water used for boiling, having first mixed with the water a teaspoon of salt and two tablespoons of molasses. The water should come about to the surface of the contents. Bake six or eight hours, adding more water when needed to prevent the top drying or burning. Beans, when done, should be thoroughly softened, but not mushy, and should retain their shape.

Baked-Bean Croquettes.

One cup baked bean pulp, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon fat, ½ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Melt the fat, stir in the flour, salt and pepper and mix with the cold milk. Cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Combine this with the beans, to which the onion juice has been added. Let stand for two or three hours; then shape as for croquettes. Roll in bread crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in bread crumbs again. Place them in deep fat and cook until nicely browned. Tomato sauce may be served with these croquettes. A recipe for it follows:

Tomato Sauce.

One cup tomato juice, 1 slice onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon fat, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Melt the fat and stir in the flour and seasonings. Add the tomato juice and cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Bean Loaf.

One pint cold cooked beans, 1 egg, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, salt and pepper.

Combine the ingredients and shape into a loaf. Place strips of bacon on top of loaf. Bake 25 minutes. Tomato sauce may be served with this loaf. This loaf should be used in place of meat in the menu and may be served with escalloped tomatoes or onions or creamed cauliflower.

Kidney-Bean Stew.

Three-fourths cup of dried kidney beans, 1 onion, 1½ tablespoons rice, 3 small potatoes (diced), 3 pints water, 3 tomatoes (sliced or quartered), 1½ tablespoons fat.

Soak beans overnight. Add one quart water and cook until half done. Add the other ingredients and cook slowly until all ingredients are tender. Add more water if necessary.

This dish may be served in place of meat and other cooked vegetables in a meal. A fruit salad or a salad made of green vegetables, such as cucumbers or radishes, may be used in such a menu.

Quackey's Narrow Escape.

THE duck pond was frozen over, and the ducks, of course, had not had a swim for a long time.

Quackey Quack did not like the barnyard. He wanted to swim, but his mother, Mrs. Quack, told him he would have to wait until the warm sunshine came and melted the ice, and that, too, he must keep away from the pond, for that very morning she had been told Mr. Fox had been seen on the other side.

"He was in the woods," said Mrs. Quack, "looking across the pond at the barnyard, and I expect he has had a hard winter and is hungry, so he will be very bold and run a great risk to get a duck or a chicken."

But as Quackey Quack had never met Mr. Fox, he did not feel at all afraid, and so later in the day when the sun was shining nice and warm—not like the summer sun, but warm for the winter time—Quackey Quack waddled down to the pond.

His mother, with her other children, was busy by the barn, where the dripping water had made a puddle, and, having so many children as she did, Mrs. Quack did not notice that one was missing.

Right on the pond went Quackey Quack, for he was sure the warm sun would melt the ice and he wanted to be ready for a swim. The water came up through little breaks in the ice and Quackey was sure the ice was melting.

He wasn't thinking at all of what his mother told him about Mr. Fox. He was thinking about the swim, and right across the pond he went, straight to the woods, before he noticed where he was.

Quackey saw a bug on the bank and waddled up to catch it, and just as he took it in his bill he saw two bright eyes looking right at him through the dry twigs.

Quackey turned and ran over the ice. He waddled at his quickest speed, and after him came Mr. Fox, for you may be sure it was he, right onto the ice.

When Mrs. Quack, who knew her child's cry, saw what was going on, she spread out her wings and, flop, she went on the ground with fright, while all the ducklings quacked and the hens cackled as they watched the race taking place on the ice.

But the sun was warm, just as Quackey thought, and while the ice was strong enough to hold Quackey Quack, when Mr. Fox came galloping on, it began to crack and snap.

They were right in the very middle of the pond when, crackle, went the ice again, and then, snap, it went, and down out of sight went Mr. Fox, and in a jiffy Quackey Quack was safe in the barnyard.

Mr. Fox splashed and floundered about, but every time he tried to get out the ice broke and down he went again; but after a while he managed to get to the bank by the woods, and when he was out of the icy water he ran for home, and the barnyard fowl saw him no more that winter.

Of course, when Mrs. Quack opened her eyes and saw Quackey she wanted to know how he escaped, and when she heard all about it she knew he had been punished enough without a scolding.

But Quackey Quack did not need a scolding. He was all over his longing for a swim and not once did he go to the pond until the summer sun melted all the ice and all the ducks went in for a swim.

Waiting for him to finish with the newspaper.

Waiting for him to LOOK at me, when I have on a new hat.

Waiting for him to "understand" me!

Waiting for him to discover "what a wonderful woman I am."

Waiting for him to SAY so!

And, I am still waiting——

For him to GROW UP!

But, I know, in the bottom of my heart, somehow,

That he never, never WILL!

And, perhaps,

When your husband—or some other woman's husband—reads this,

He will good-naturedly admit, that, after all, the "patient martyr" roles are about evenly divided,

And, that all the agonizing moments he has spent in waiting for you to powder your nose, or curl your hair, or decide which hat to wear, or to say "good-by"—and all that,

Odd Use of Gravity Made in New Reminder Clock

REMINDER clocks have long proved themselves useful to business and professional men. A new device of this order, in which gravity is put to a novel use, is illustrated in Popular Mechanics. At the base of the case is a metal cup in which are many polished steel balls. Around the dial are 48 holes, one for each quarter hour. So, when the appointments for the next 12 hours are made, the owner of the clock places a steel ball in each appropriate hole. At each appointed minute a ball rolls to the base of the clock, where it makes an electric contact and rings a bell or buzzer.

Even the sugar shortage has its compensations

Don't think that "sugar shortage" means an end to home desserts and cakes. On the contrary, it actually points the way to more delicious ones! For instance, a touch of the Caterer's Art may be given the gelatine desserts, fruits, puddings and other sweets of the home menu by serving them with luscious marshmallow topping, in place of sugar sauces or the time-honored "sugar and cream." And as to Cake Fillings and Frostings! —PERFECT ones, all you want, merely by spreading HIP-O-LITE, the ready-to-use Marshmallow Creme, on the layers and over the cake as you would spread butter on bread. No Sugar, No Eggs or other ingredients—and No Cooking!

To really Enjoy the sugar shortage, all you need is a jar of HIP-O-LITE. Your grocer has it.

The Curious Quest

By E. Phillips Oppenheim.

CHAPTER XX.

HE was awakened by the flash of a lantern on his face, and sat up, blinking. A man to whom, even in those few moments of half-dazed awakening, he took an instinctive dislike, was standing by the side of the car. He was clean-shaven, with round face, small eyes, bull-necked, and, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, he was still wearing riding clothes. His whole appearance was curiously reminiscent of the racecourse. In his hand he held a large tumbler filled with whisky and soda.

"Wake up, young fellow," he enjoined. "You'll get rheumatism, sleeping there a damp night like this."

"For me?" Bliss asked, stretching out his hand towards the glass.

"What about my young lady?"

"Going to spend the night here," the man said. "She sent you this," the man added, producing a sovereign, "and you're to go on to Crawley—that's 10 miles as straight as you can drive—and put up there at the Bull's Head."

"And what then?"

"She'll come on tomorrow afternoon—or rather this afternoon. Her brother will drive her in, most likely."

"Does her brother live here?" Bliss inquired.

"He does," the other replied, "although I don't know what business it is of yours."

Bliss rose in his place and stretched himself. Then he descended, turned the handle of the car and reseated himself. His fingers were upon the change gear, his foot upon the clutch. It had not occurred to him to doubt the authenticity of his instructions. Then, just as he was about to start off, he happened to glance towards his companion to wish him goodnight, and a new and most disturbing thought flashed into his mind. The man's expression was astounding. The narrow eyes seemed to have drawn closer together. His parted lips, disclosing two rows of yellow, ill-shaped teeth, gave him the appearance of a criminal gloating over some anticipated success. Bliss, thoroughly awake now, sat for a moment in his seat hesitatingly. Finally he thrust in his clutch.

"Goodnight," he said.

"Goodnight," the other replied. "Don't forget—the Bull's Head at Crawley."

Bliss traveled for a mile along the level road. Then he turned back and as silently as possible returned to his original position. He extinguished the lights, and, descending, made his way to the gate, opened it softly, and, taking care to keep on the grass border, cautiously approached the house, which appeared to be about 50 yards away, a low, unpretentious building, with a long line of outhouses in the rear, which at first sight puzzled him. There was a single light burning in one of the downstairs windows, and towards this he made his way. As he drew nearer, he could see the shadows of three persons. The window was uncurtained and unshuttered. The house itself, he was beginning to realize, had a deserted, almost a forsaken appearance. He crossed a weed-grown drive, stepped upon an empty flower bed, and peered into the room. The young lady was there, standing in the middle of the hearthrug, with one hand resting upon the chimney-piece. The man who had brought him the whisky and soda was listening to what she was saying, with a scowl upon his unpleasant face. Lounging in an easy chair a little further away was a younger and darker man. Notwithstanding his dissipated appearance and weak mouth, Bliss recognized at once his likeness to the girl whom he had brought down. The young man raised his head and began to speak. Bliss found, to his surprise, that every word was audible. He looked up and discovered that the window was open at the top.

"What I should like to know is what you are doing here, anyhow, Kate," the former exclaimed peevishly. "You leave me with scarcely a word of excuse, without any sufficient reason"——

"Stop," the girl interrupted. "I had every reason. I left you because I dislike your partner, Sam Brownley. There need be no concealment about it. Our father trained horses here and made a name for himself. That name, Jack, you might have kept, and could have done if you had been content to run straight."

"And who says I'm not running straight?" the young man demanded.

"I say so," the girl replied boldly. "I say that if you had meant to run straight, you would never have taken a partner like that."

Her brother sprang to his feet.

"Look here, Kate," he expostulated, "I am sorry you and Brownley don't hit it, but it's my business, and Brownley's the man I have chosen to help me in it. Now will you kindly explain what the dickens you mean by coming down here in the middle of the night? Cut it short and tell us what you want, anyhow."

"I want to know," she announced firmly, "why you are running 'Mr. Pontifex' for the Newmarket Cup tomorrow, and why you have both backed him for more money than you have ever owned in your lives?"

There was a moment's silence. Brownley spoke up now. His voice was hoarse, almost savage.

"Where did you get hold of this cock and bull story?" he demanded.

"Never mind how I heard it," the girl replied. "I know very well that you've backed the horse for as much as you dared through the usual channels, and you've backed it for a great deal more outside. You've brought the price from 100 to 1 to a 100 to 8, and yet, on paper, anyone who knows anything about racing knows that the horse cannot possibly have achance."

"So you've come down here in the middle of the night to ask me this?" her brother observed uneasily. "Well, my reply is simple enough. It isn't your money I've backed the horse with, and it isn't your business."

"It's my business," the girl insisted, "to see that you keep straight, Jack, and there's something on my mind that I have got to get rid of. I've come down here not only to ask this question, but I'm going to see 'Mr. Pontifex.'"

"What the mischief do you want to see the horse for?" the young man asked quickly.

"Never mind why I wish to see it. I am going to, so you may as well make up your mind to it."

The two men exchanged glances.

"Better stay the night, and you can go round to the stables in the morning," her brother suggested.

"Thank you," she answered, "nothing would induce me to spend the night under this roof. You seem to forget the circumstances under which I left it."

She threw a glance at Brownley, who laughed brutally.

"I don't want to lose my temper, Jack," she went on: "you are my brother, and I mustn't forget it, although you seem to when you let that brute insult me. However, are you going to show me 'Mr. Pontifex' or not?"

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Cause of Gladness.

He: My dear, I have just paid off the mortgage on our home.

She: I'm so glad. Now you can put on another and buy an automobile.—Baltimore American.

Record Crowd at Soccer Contests Sees Double Tie

BOTH BATTLES END 2-2

Scullins' Manager Enters Protest Against Rooney, Ben Millers' Forward.

Favored by good weather and putting up two classful attractions each week, the St. Louis Soccer League is at present enjoying its greatest financial year. Two weeks ago a new attendance record for regular league contests was set when 3400 attended. However, this figure was beaten yesterday, when more than 4000 paid to see the two battles.

With favorable weather conditions next week, it is expected that another record will be established, inasmuch as next Sunday the local elevens will play their first United States Football Association cup games, with the Innisfails tackling the Millers and Scullins opposing the Screw Co.

In the clashes yesterday the Innisfails were forced to extend themselves to gain a 2—2 tie against the Screw Co., while the Ben Millers battled the Scullins to 2—2 draw. The latter conflict was played under protest, Manager Tate Brady questioning the eligibility of Joe Rooney, who is manager of the Blue Birds in Municipal League.

Sheehan and King Star.

The Miller-Scullin tilt was the feature of the afternoon, both elevens playing hard for a victory. Sensational work by the two "goalies," Sheehan and King, and the backfields kept down the score. Despite this, a bad break, kept the Scullins from a 3—1 verdict, as a shot that could have been cleared by Sheehan bounded wrong off Tate Brady's head.

Tate Brady's men, who came into their own a week previous in the clash with the Innisfails, started with a rush against the Millers. Shortly after the opening whistle, Allie Schwarz carried the ball to the mouth of the Hatters' goal and passed to Dike Brannigan. The latter's shot hit the crossbar and then bounded through for the first point of the game.

Immediately after this Ratican's charges started a bombardment of the Scullin goal, which was withstood for some time. Goal-Keeper Sheehan had cleared two hard shots when Potee banged one at the uprights. Tate Brady, trying to clear, deflected it into the corner of the net, tieing the score. No more scoring came in the first half.

Scullins Score on Penalty.

Beginning the closing period, the Scullins again started with a rush. Schwarz carried the ball down the field and with a clear shot, he was tripped, giving the Steel Workers a penalty. Emmett Mulvey was elected to kick and he made good. It was the second penalty he has booted in two weeks. Shortly before the final whistle Hap Marre put through the tieing point.

In the opener, the Innisfails, at present tied for first place with the Millers, were forced to play an uphill game throughout. Eddie Mulligan put the Screw Co. ahead early in the battling with a sensational long shot, while 10 minutes later he shot another giving his team a 2—0 advantage.

Schweppe's penalty kick gave the Irishmen their first marker, while they tied it in the closing period, Matt Diedericksen shooting. Johnny Miller, the Screw Co. veteran, had two chances to win it for McCarthy's men in the closing minutes of play, but both shots went wild.

Harvard Only Big Eastern Eleven Unbeaten This Year; Ames Best Team in Valley

Clear-Cut Championships Likely to Result in M-V Organization, Big Ten and Southern Conferences, but Eastern Title Situation Is Clouded—Big Games Scheduled Saturday.

By John E. Wray.

FOOTBALL championships are parlous matters to discuss with confidence, in these times of the uprising of minor teams against historic institutions. Such a thing as naming an Eastern champion, for example, is utterly out of the question.

Last week Dartmouth and Colgate, unbeaten to that time, fell before Brown and Syracuse respectively, the overcoming of the green being one of the huge surprises of the season. The previous week had seen the elimination of Washington-Jefferson and the Navy teams. Thus, every eleven of consequence in the East has been defeated except the Crimson machine.

Oi Yoi, Lay Off of This!

But to say that therefore the Harvard eleven is the best, would be to invite a storm of objection from any one of half a dozen rivals.

The outstanding fact of the Eastern situation seems to be this: That of the ten leading teams in the country almost any one could beat any other with favorable conditions and a very few breaks.

The elevens in such a group would include the following:

Syracuse, Colgate, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pittsburg, Penn, West Virginia, W. and J., Penn State, Yale, Princeton.

• • •

Ohio State vs. Illinois.

But while the Eastern title race is hopelessly befuddled beyond possibility of separating some of the aspirants, the condition in Midwestern circles is different. The Big Ten conference race will be definitely decided, provided Ohio State can defeat Illinois next Saturday. Thus far "Chick" Harley and company have been equal to every emergency, although their margin over Wisconsin was only three points.

Illinois' record entitles it to be considered right now the second best eleven in the Big Ten. If it should decisively defeat Ohio State, it would be entitled to first conference honors, despite a hairline defeat by Wisconsin earlier in the season.

There will be a world of money risked next Saturday that Illinois will defeat Ohio State. Zuppe's machine has moved forward with each game played, and its decisive defeat of Michigan, 29—7, indicates a greater margin of superiority than Ohio State enjoyed with its score of 13 to 3.

Following is the Western Conference standing:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Ohio State	3	0	1.000
Illinois	5	1	.833
Chicago	4	1	.800
Wisconsin	2	2	.500
Iowa	2	2	.500
Minesota	2	2	.500
Michigan	1	3	.250
Northwestern	1	4	.200
Indiana	0	2	.000
Purdue	0	3	.000

Unexpected Victories of Iowa State in Recent Games Startles Valley Rivals

The Valley Conference situation was materially cleared by Missouri's victory over Washington, 7—0, last week. Missouri now has a clear record. Kansas University is also unbeaten, and their Thanksgiving day battle will unquestionably and unqualifiedly determine which is the best eleven in the M. V. circuit this season.

There are some who will take exceptions to this view, after noting the astonishing rise of the Ames (Iowa State) eleven. Ames lost to Missouri, 10—0, in an early season contest.

Its last two appearances, however, indicate an astonishing advance in power. For example, Ames defeated Nebraska, 2—0, a stronger Nebraska eleven than the one which trimmed the Tigers, 12—5. Last Saturday Ames tossed a big shell into the Valley circle by trimming the Kansas Aggies, 46—3, the same Kansas Aggies that tied Missouri and held Washington, 14—9.

On these two games Ames appears to have the best eleven in the conference; but its claims are nil, now, no matter what its strength; for it has suffered defeat. The winner of the Thanksgiving day feature between the Jayhawkers and the Tigers indisputably will be champion.

The standings show the following:

	W.	L.	Tie.
Missouri	3	0	1
Kansas	1	0	1
Ames	2	1	1
Washington	2	2	0
Drake	2	2	0
Aggies	0	2	2
Grinnell	0	2	0

Other Sectional Fights.

Georgia Tech forfeited all claim to the Southern title 10 days ago when it succumbed to Washington and Lee unexpectedly by a three-point margin—the only score on either side. It was the first time in 3 seasons that a Southern eleven has taken the measure of Heisman's Golden Tornado, which was something to blow about, even with Indian Joe Guyon missing. Tech showed Saturday what a strong eleven it is by defeating Georgetown navy's conqueror. Washington and Lee is very fortunate to emerge with a title by the margin of one field goal.

Here's a Real Eleven.

There is a college known as Centre College of Lexington, Ky., which would rank high in any conference if it only belonged to one. Being independent it can't claim any honors; but it can boast that it smashed West Virginia and Indiana, and only Saturday crushed Kentucky State 560. Too bad merit of that sort isn't identified with some conference.

Centre tried to get a game with one of the local universities, but was refused. There is no glory in meeting an unknown but dangerous foe, either in the fight of football game.

Texas University appears to be the Southwest conference champion of the present season, although the unaffiliated Harry Kendall aggregation is probably the strongest eleven in the Southwest. It defeated Oklahoma 27—0, quite a score against the Sooners. Texas won by one touchdown from the same enemy.

Washington State and the University of Washington are at present tied for the Northwest title.

WRAY'S COLUMN

The Line's the Thing.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S defeat by Missouri, Saturday, due largely to the smothering of the versatile Jimmy Conzelman by the superior efforts of the Tiger forwards, teaches the lesson that a football backfield is no stronger than the line in front of it.

Missouri's line outshone the locals on the ends, had the better of the Pikers a majority of the time at tackle and guard, and was outmatched only at center, where Al Marquard's superiority was evident.

As a result of the inferiority of the Piker forwards, two or three Missourians were through on Conzelman at every attempt to run or forward pass. Only in punting was Jimmy able to show his superiority, ordinarily the chief feature of Washington's attack.

The Tigers shredded the first line Piker defense so quickly that they were frequently through on Conzelman before the men to take his passes were in position to receive them. As a result, the Washington attack, which has no scoring punch unless Conzelman is performing up to standard, was powerless.

Pikers Deserve Credit.

JUST chalk up the defeat to the weaker line which, however, must be given credit for making a wonderful stand and for holding a three touchdowns better team to one lone tally. It was a creditable day's work for the Pikers, all things considered.

Neither Coach Rutherford nor his team should feel chagrined at the outcome. The losers did more with such material as they had than did the winners—which constitutes a real victory, after all.

What's the Matter With St. L. U.?

AFTER holding Marquette to 0—0 score, the Billikens Saturday kicked off a game to the Drury Panthers, a team that Washington whitewashed 51—0 earlier in the season.

Furthermore, the Drury eleven EARNED its victory, making it appear that the Thanksgiving day contest between the Pikers and Billikens will be a mere practice tilt for Conzelman & Co.

That idea will have to be overhauled, however. St. Louis U. ordinarily improves 50 per cent in the last 10 days before the big game, and doubtless Washington will have its hands full in winning.

Nevertheless, Washington ought not to lose this game. It has played better teams all season and has shown consistent power, while St. Louis U. seemingly doesn't know how to score. St. Louis has no such line as Missouri and may not be able to stop Conzelman.

Post-Dispatch "WANT" ADS are the quick method of getting desirable tenants at small expense.

Conzelman Used Good Tactics in Missouri Battle

Tried Four Different Plays in Effort to Cross Goal Line in Final Quarter.

Final returns from the business managers of Saturday's game at Francis Field, indicate the Washington-Missouri contest was the biggest financial success ever recorded in Pikeway athletics. It is announced that the gate receipts for the contest were well over $9000.

This of course does not account for the Washington student admissions, because of the single tax system at the local school, nor for the alumni season passes which were sold early in the year. Inasmuch as the contesting schools were working on an even split basis, the Washington Athletic Association must put into the receipts, 50 cents for every single tax coupon collected at the gate. The local school will probably realize about $3500 gross profit on the contest.

Alumni of the school stated that Saturday's crowd was the largest that had ever been put into the athletic enclosure since the world's fair in 1904. It is estimated that between 10,000 and 11,000 witnessed the Piker-Tiger battle.

Light Practice for Pikers.

A light limbering-up session today will inaugurate work for the Thanksgiving day battle with St. Louis University. The coach will require that the men run through a few conditioning stunts in order that the real practice may be started tomorrow.

Everybody turned up well after Saturday's defeat and consequently Rutherford will have his entire squad to work with. It is expected that Berger and Shanley will be ready to get to work by the latter part of the week.

Even Conzelman, on whom the greater part of the Tiger attack was focused, did not have a bruise yesterday. He is usually pretty stiff after a game, but the Bengal tackling seemed to have less effect on him than usual.

Conzelman's Play Defended.

There has been a lot of comment as to the work of Conzelman, and especially was he censured for his work in the last period when the Pikers failed to make four yards for a touchdown in four line efforts. It was stated on the authority of Referee Cochran that Jim called the same play on each try.

Several members of the team deny this version, and say that there were four distinct plays right under the goal post shadows. The first one sent Potthoff off tackle, then Griesedieck charged to the center, then came Potthoff inside of tackle, and then came a fake pass. On this play Conzelman sent two men out wide and got back himself, so as to carry out the passing idea. He then plunged in at guard, but the ruse failed to work.

These were the plays that were called. Of course, the Missouri line was outcharging the Red and Green forwards at this stage and it is not unlikely that the backs were stopped before reaching their designated "holes."

Whitley Used for Interference.

It was noticed that Gil Whitley, left halfback who subbed for George Berger, was called to run with the ball only twice during the entire game. When Conzelman was asked to explain this he said that he had not expected Gil to gain much ground carrying the ball, but that he was the best man in the backfield at leading the interference. He thought that the former Central star would prove more valuable in this capacity. Whitley played a whale of a defensive game.

Travis Has Edge on Lippert.

The battle between Travis and Lippert was a warm one, and it must be admitted that the Missouri tackle had somewhat the better of the argument. Travis was in on many plays, whereas Lippert was seen to break through the Columbia defense a very few times. Several gains came through the local man, whereas Pikeway backs found great difficulty in passing the huge Tarkio youth.

As to the individual play of other Washington men, there is no doubt that Marquard loomed up as the Washington star. Kremer did well at end, after he had recovered from his initial nervousness. The guards fell down somewhat, failing to do as well as they did against Drake. Hafner fell down badly, while Rutherford's contention that Pemberton was weak at catching forward passes was verified.

However, Pete was not the only member who was missing the passes. Of course his dropping the ball while standing on the other side of the goal line was the heart-tearing moment of the game; but Potthoff was also guilty of fumbling one long toss. Five passes, all of which should have been caught, were fumbled.

The fact of that matter is that with Berger out of the game, there was not one man on the team who could catch the ball with his hands; it had to go to the body in order to be held. This put Conzelman at a disadvantage, and his marvelous throwing ability while on the run was absolutely wasted.

CENTRAL WILL OPPOSE SOLDAN IN HIGH SCHOOL TITLE GAME TURKEY DAY

High School football teams will play no more championship games until Thanksgiving day, when the season will be brought to a close with the title game between Central and Soldan. Soldan has won three games, while Central has won two and tied one. McKinley is scheduled to oppose Yeatman in the other Turkey day battle.

"Dope" on the clash between Central and Soldan favors the latter. The West Enders defeated McKinley, 20 to 3, while last Saturday Coach Crosby's men held Central to a 7—7 tie. Cleveland has finished its season with a record of one victory and three defeats.

Western League in Session.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Club owners of the Western Baseball League began arriving here last night to attend the annual meeting of the league schedule for today. President Tearney said the question of a circuit for the 1920 season would be discussed. Officers elected and that other important issues would be brought up for consideration.

The past season was one of the most successful in the history of the organization, President Tearney said.

Schaefer Beats Graff.

Harry Schaefer defeated C. J. Graff, 3980 to 3810, in their 20-game total pins bowling match which was completed on the Washington alleys yesterday afternoon. Yesterday Schaefer won 1948 to 1926. Schaefer had a high game of 247, while Graff's best was 220. It is expected that the pair will meet in another match this week.

Charley Spencer High Gun.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 17.—William Wetleaf of Nichols, Ia., was high amateur at yesterday's shoot, the last of the fall trapshooting carnival here. Wetleaf's score was 92 out of 100. S. H. herman, Salt Lake City, was second with 89. C. G. Spencer of St. Louis was high professional with a score of 91.

Layton in Series Here.

Johnny Layton, who is entered in the world's championship pocket billiard tournament to be started in Philadelphia, Dec. 1, will open a series of special matches in this city today. Layton will play at Pesch's rooms, 415 Chestnut street, each afternoon and evening this week. This afternoon he meets Jack Butterfield, while tonight F. Rickley will be his opponent.

Soldier to Meet Sailor Jerabek At S.B.A.C. Show

Eddie Spier and Foe Have Similar Record Against Nelson.

Although none of the de luxe Eastern fight talent will be on display at the South Broadway Athletic Club tomorrow night, the outlook for earnest endeavor is about 100 per cent strong. All of the principals in three events carded are noted for "trying," a feature which is lacking in the boxing of most of the imported talent brought here to edify local enthusiasts.

Sailor Jerabek and Eddie Spier, both well known locally, are meeting for the first time. Although Jerabek is an experienced ringster and a clever one with a punch, while his opponent is a comparatively newcomer to the game, the outcome of this contest is considered something of a problem.

This is because Spier is one of the "fightingest" young men that Uncle Sam ever developed. Eddie came out of the army and took on Fred Nelson, a grim warrior of long experience. Although outboxed, Spier flattened Nelson. They were matched again because Nelson was not satisfied with the result. Five days before the contest an automobile ran over Spier's left foot. Although it was still in a desperate condition, Spier entered the ring with a flat wheel, all "frozen" with ether. He limped through part of the contest suffering excruciating agony, but of course lost the battle.

Nelson Won and Lost.

Jerabek also fought Nelson, losing and winning, so that the issue as between the Sailor and the Soldier appears to be a toss up. Jerabek's "glass" jaw will make him especially careful, because Spier packs a man-killing wallop.

Stanley Everett and Eddie Meier will be battling their third encounter, each having won a victory. Both bouts were stormy sessions. Everett gave Frankie Mason a hard battle recently and was credited with a draw.

Used Cars and auto accessories are being sold through Post-Dispatch Wants.

SPORT SALAD BY J. C. Davis

Signs of Life.

JOHN BARLEYCORN lies on his bier
But for him don't be weeping;
For, judging by the news we hear,
He is not dead but sleeping.

According to the rumors rife
Old John's been under cover;
But now he's showing signs of life
And shortly may recover.

He's growing stronger every day
According to the papers,
And in due course of time he may
Be up and cutting capers.

His many friends their grief have borne,
With Christian resignation;
And now they say John Barleycorn
Shows signs of animation.

He got a wallop in the pants
From friends of prohibition,
That must have put him in a trance,
Or, comatose condition.

When in his coffin John is put
And duly billed to skid off,
He raises up a mighty foot
And kicks the bloomin' lid off.

Though Barleycorn was pretty sick
And had no animation,
He still retains the wondrous kick
That earned his reputation.

Royalty.

Newport society is all agog over the report that the Prince of Pilsen and the Sultan of Sulu will visit America in the near future.

Pussyfoot.

"PUSSYFOOT, Pussyfoot, where have you been?"
"I've been to London to see the Queen.
I made a great speech against liquor and ale
And had a most wonderful ride on a rail."

A Wise Move.

Lefty Tyler, after consulting a dentist discovered that the trouble with his arm was due to bad teeth. As Lefty depends on his arm for his bread and butterine and as his teeth are practically of no use to him with meat at its present price, he decided to get rid of his teeth. He may be right.

Teeth.

IF your pitching arm is lame,
It's your teeth.
If you cannot win a game,
It's your teeth.
When you can't afford to pay
What they ask for meat today,
Teeth are only in the way.
Have 'em pulled.

If you're feeling out of sorts
It's your teeth.
If your have a flock of warts
It's your teetn.
If you can't afford a goose
For your teeth you have no use.
Even though they are not loose—
Have 'em pulled.

A. A. U. DELEGATES OPEN ANNUAL MEETING TODAY

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 17.—Delegates from every State and Hawaii gathered here yesterday for the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will formally open its sessions today. Committee meetings occupied the attention of the delegates, after which they were taken on sight-seeing tours and given receptions by members of the New England Association of Amateur Athletic Unions and the Boston Athletic Association. Mayor Peters extended the official welcome in behalf of the city this morning, and at a banquet tonight Lieutenant-Governor Cox will speak for the commonwealth.

WEST VIRGINIA LEADS EASTERNERS IN SCORING

West Virginia, by scoring 30 points in the game with Rutgers last Saturday, is now leading all Eastern teams in scoring, with 264 points against 259 for Pennsylvania. Capt. Rodgers of the Mountaineers is the individual leader, he having scored a total of 103 points.

Jackson Strong for Bagley.

Willie Jackson, the Eastern lightweight, who has been rather busy this season, showed his appreciation for the efforts of his manager, Frank Bagley, recently, when he presented Bagley with a gold watch with 16 diamonds set in the case.

flash! only a water laxative really flushes

Nature itself uses floods of rain, running streams and rushing torrents to prevent stagnation

WHEN your eliminative system is normally active, medical authorities advise that water be used to keep it so.

When your eliminative system is in an abnormal condition—or constipated—you should depend upon a water laxative to restore it to its proper functioning.

You cannot "dry clean" the small and large bowel effectively by the use of pills, powders, tablets, etc. Only a water laxative really flushes away the disease-producing contents of your intestinal tract when you are constipated.

The foremost water laxative most frequently recommended by physicians is Pluto Water, America's physic. Pluto Water is a most effective flushing agent—it gives you all the benefit of the internal bath so essential for continued good health.

Pluto Water cleanses the colon gently, pleasantly, but positively and completely. It is bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana, and is a recognized curative agent for kidney, liver and stomach troubles, rheumatism and nervous disorders.

Your physician prescribes it

ARKANSAS REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION DENIED BY COURT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 17.—The Arkansas Supreme Court today denied the legality of submitting the National prohibition ratification to a referendum vote in this State, holding only laws or measures passed by the Legislature are subject to referendum. It was announced that the case would be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

The Court held that under the State Constitution ratification of Federal constitutional amendments does not come within the provision of the Constitution permitting referendums on laws.

The Secretary of State had refused to certify out a petition for a referendum election and the Court upheld his action.

DESERTER FOUND STARVING UNDER HOUSE AT NAVAL BASE

Fireman, Apprehensive of Punishment, Lost 100 Pounds While in Hiding.

By the Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 17.—Investigation of a story told by children that they had heard groans under a bungalow building at the Hampton Roads naval base yesterday disclosed Harry J. Harley of Philadelphia, a third-class naval fireman, missing for two months and on the verge of starvation.

When the man was dragged out and hurried to a hospital he was barely alive, but physicians say he may recover. He weighed 61 pounds, which was 100 off his record when he enlisted last May.

Harley, who had served in the army in France, was suffering from shell shock and apprehensive of punishment when he overstayed his leave, took refuge, officials said, under the building. Officers at the port said he probably had been supplied by a comrade with food for a time, and later, being unable to crawl, remained in hiding without food or water until the groans resulted in his rescue. Harley was officially rated a deserter on Oct. 22.

ESCAPED CONVICT RECAPTURED

Discovered by Negro Who Fights Until Help Comes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17.—Ira Pavey, the Kansas City convict who escaped from the penitentiary Saturday morning, by climbing the wall, was found hiding in a private barn here yesterday and captured after a terrific fight in which he was shot through the thigh.

A negro chauffeur climbed into the barn loft and came on the convict unexpectedly. Pavey and the chauffeur fought all the way to the ground and were fighting in the yard when neighbors saw them and roused members of the household.

Howard Bradbury, a boarder, borrowed a revolver and ran to the scene of the fight. He called on Pavey to surrender. Pavey started toward him, saying, "You've got a gun but you're afraid to use it." Bradbury fired, shooting Pavey through the thigh. He fell, but refused to surrender and had to be taken by force. Pavey was serving a two-year sentence for carrying a concealed weapon.

SAYS DRY LAW IS EFFECTIVE

Commissioner Roper Reports Strict Compliance With Enforcement Act.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Strict compliance by the people with provisions of the prohibition enforcement act, during the first two weeks of its life, is reported by Commissioner Roper, of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

"My confidence in the desire of the American people to observe the law is being fully justified," Commissioner Roper said. "The law breaking element is small and growing less."

Roper made public a report from the Collector of one important district which illustrated conditions, he said. This showed little violation of the law and set forth that the liquor dealers' associations, which had pledged support to the law, and the press, had been helpful factors.

BELIEVED AIRMEN WERE DEVILS

Natives Wished to Kill Frenchmen on Paris-Australia Trip.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—A message was received here today from Etienne Poulet, the French aviator, who is flying from Paris to Australia and who reached Karachi, India, last week, having completed nearly 4000 miles of his journey.

"Obliged by motor trouble to stop," says the message, which was dated Karachi, "one day the inhabitants wished to kill us, taking us for devils. Fortunately we had guns and ammunition."

Seven Nominees for Hungarian Throne.

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—A Budapest dispatch to the Abend lists seven nominees for the Hungarian throne. The Legitimists, according to the dispatch, have divided into two groups, one of which favors the return of former Emperor Charles and the other Prince Otto. Other groups, recognizing the allied mandate against the House of Hapsburg, advance Crown Prince Charles of Rumania, the Duke d'Abruzzi and the Duke of Teck.

Irish Hiss Name of Admiral Sims.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The name of Admiral Sims was repeatedly hissed by an overflow audience at the Lexington Opera House here last night at an Irish mass meeting called to protest against the "military autocracy" of the English Government in Ireland and against "any division of Irish soil in two parts." Men paraded in front of the theater with placards reading "Kings and their offspring get our goat—away with them."

IRREGULAR CHANGES IN WALL STREET MARKET

Some Issues Score Gains While Others Record Losses; Trading Is Fairly Active.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.

Irregular price changes, mostly gains, were registered at the opening of the stock market today. Trading was moderately active, but centered to a great extent in the steel shares and rails. The latter issues are in more favor than for some time, owing to plans for rehabilitation after their return to private ownership.

During the past week the appearance of a new form of the bill known as the Esch measure indicates the probability that the Cummins bill, heretofore considered the leading railroad proposal before the country, may be superseded. Both measures are long and complex and involve many highly technical questions.

Either one would give the railroad investor a much better assurance of protection than he could have without them, and they have accordingly been favorably received by owners of securities. Neither measure would give the investor more than a very moderate amount of return and effort will undoubtedly be made to revise whichever of the two emerges from the legislative discussion in such a way as to give to the investor better recognition than he would get under the investment sections of the legislation as announced.

The difficulty in the problem does not lie in the question of amending these measures, but in the fact that Congress must act very hastily if it is to do anything whatever with respect to them. Under the present plan the roads are to be returned to their owners not later than the end of the present calendar year, and this means that such action as is to be taken must become law before that time.

The more favorable method of treating the situation appears to be found in a selection of essential features and the adoption of a bill relating to them, leaving questions of rates and general reorganiaztion for the future.

It is probable that this course will be the one to be pursued, and that eventually a settlement will be effected which will cover the broadest issues in the transportation question but which will be worked out more at leisure.

Meantime railroad shares have held their own well in the disturbed market of the week and many believe that both they and sound railroad bonds will find a decidedly higher level of values. Confidence that Congress will act equitably on the railroad question is strong.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The strength of investment rails, notably Union Pacific, was the only important offset to an otherwise heavy tone at the opening of today's stock market. Prominent features of last week's severe liquidating movement reflected further pressure, due probably to renewed selling for both accounts.

The Motor division reacted 2 to 4 points. Oils dropped 1 to 3, steels 1 to 2, and equipments 1 to 3. Active specialties, including tobaccos, also sagged. Trading was dull in contrast to recent excited sessions.

As the session progressed selling became more urgent, being impelled by further liquidation of weakened accounts. General Motors continued its erratic course, losing 11 points, rallying 6 and then dropping back again. Crucible Steel was the weakest issue in the entire list, losing 15 points.

Union Pacific displayed consistent strength, extending its gain to 4¼ points. Several of the food and metal shares showed marked firmness.

Part of this advantage was forfeited before noon, however, fresh weakness in foreign exchange and 12 per cent for call money playing into the hands of the short interest.

MERCANTILE TRUST CO. TO KEEP "OPEN HOUSE" ALL THIS WEEK

Financial Institution Celebrates Twentieth Anniversary of Its Founding.

In celebration of the twentieth anniversary of its founding the Mercantile Trust Co., Eighth and Locust streets, beginning today, will keep "open house" all week for its customers and the general public.

One of the features of the anniversary celebration will be the opening of a coupon room in the new safe deposit department of the bank.

The Mercantile Trust Co. was first opened for business across the street from its present site on Nov. 16, 1899. It has twice outgrown its quarters. Its banking room space was doubled by an addition about a year ago and another addition is now being built. Festus J. Wade has been the company's president since its foundation.

DECEMBER CORN STRONG IN LATE TRADING HERE

There was nothing of interest in corn trading during the early market on the Merchants' Exchange today. Prices opened slightly lower on good weather, then rallied to Saturday's close. Hogs were steady and exerted some influence on early buying. Sentiment also favors an early ratification of the peace treaty, which traders think will open the way for extension of foreign credits by American banks and a big buying demand for American food products.

Oats futures were firm with corn, although the market here was quiet. There was little of importance in the early developments.

December corn opened ⅞c lower at $1.28⅞, then rallied to $1.30¼ bid. May opened ⅝c off at $1.24, sold at $1.23¾, then rallied to $1.25¼. Oats were neglected.

Corn receipts here today were 137,000 bu against 138,000 bu last year. Shipments—22,000 bu against 67,000 bu. Oats receipts—254,000 bu against 180,000 bu. Shipments—82,000 bu against 92,000 bu. Wheat receipts—264,000 bu against 82,000 bu. Shipments—87,000 bu against 58,000 bu.

Aggressive buying of corn by big interests swept the market strongly upward in the late session and prices averaged over 2c higher. There was some realizing on the advance. Oats were almost 1c higher.

The coal shortage is beginning to menace free handling of grain. Railroads are complaining of dwindling coal stocks and are preparing to curtail freight handling unless a speedy return to normal coal output is accomplished.

Chicago reported oat "tight." The sleeping short interest apprehensive. The country offering of oats have dried up and although there is talk of an increase in corn movement there is nothing to base a belief in heavier oats receipts.

Argentine freight rates are reported by the Department of Commerce as showing sudden advance, due to the temporary scarcity of steamers. Grain shippers are offering greatly advanced rates for steamers January and February. This condition is largely brought about by coal strike and congested conditions of the American harbors as result of coal strike.

The domestic visible of wheat increased 339,000 bu last week; corn decreased 269,000 bu; oats decreased 432,000 bu.

QUICK ADVANCE IN CORN AT CHICAGO AFTER WEAK OPENING

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Corn prices took an upward swing today after showing considerable weakness at the start. Initial declines were due to excellent weather for the crop movement. On the downturn in values, however, gossip became current that country offerings to arrive had been sharply curtailed. Then shorts covered freely, and a quick advance ensued. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as Saturday's finish to 1c lower, with December $1.26¾ to $1.27¼ and May $1.22¾ to $1.23½, were followed by material gains all around.

Oats were ruled by the fluctuations in the corn market. After opening unchanged to ⅜c lower, including May at 74¼c to 74⅝c, the market scored a moderate advance.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions. Volume of trade, though, was lacking.

Car scarcity complaints hindered efforts to check the advance of prices, and so, too, did fear that coal shortage would restrict the movement of corn. The market closed nervous, 1⅜c to 2⅜c net higher, with December $1.30¼ to $1.30⅜ and May $1.24⅞ to $1.25.

COTTON SHOWS CONTINUED ACTIVITY AND NERVOUSNESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The cotton market showed continued activity and nervousness during today's early trading. Liverpool just about met the local decline of Saturday and after opening 2 to 15 points lower, prices here sold 15 to 27 points net lower under continued heavy Southern and Wall street liquidation. Trade interests were good buyers at the decline and there was a good deal of covering, with January selling up from 34.55 to 35, or about 25 points net higher, shortly after the call.

The uncertainties of the peace treaty and money market conditions, combined with the weakness of foreign exchange, promoted continued nervousness during the morning. Around midday, however, offerings were smaller and the buying became more aggressive with January selling up to 35.15c, or 40 points net higher.

LIVESTOCK

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Nov. 17.

Today's estimated livestock receipts: Cattle and calves, 16,500; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 6500; horses and mules, 3500.

Market generally was a flat quarter lower on cattle and more in spots. A heavy run gave packers the opportunity to take off part of the advance registered last week. Choice cattle, however, held their own and were strong. Vealers sold steady with Friday with a $16.50 top.

HOGS—The fact that there were 18,000 fresh arrivals at the hoghouse today did not in any way demoralize the trade. On the contrary, prices were 5c to 10c above Saturday's average, with top at $14.85 and bulk from $14.40@14.74. Good hogs were in small proportion to the run and were well taken care of, but there were prospects of a good carry over of light and plain hogs. Pig market steady to 25c lower, with best weight pigs selling from $14@14.50. Rough sows went from $13@13.25, where choice or about steady.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

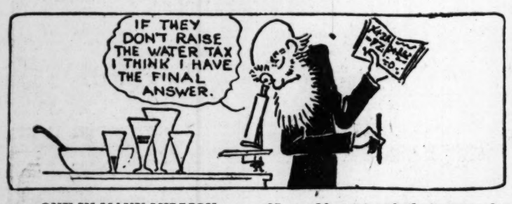

THE GLORY THAT WAS GREASE.

When cream became so scarce and high
That e'en the rich began to mutter
A scientist's discerning eye
Revealed a substitute for butter.
A pungent substitute it was
Which people ate with bitter curses
But still they purchased it because
Its cost was suited to their purses.

But when the cost of lard arose
The scientists grew apprehensive
And murmured glumly, "Goodness knows
Our substitute is too expensive.
Its chief ingredient is lard
Too rich by far in butter fat."
And so they labored very hard
And found a substitute for that.

And then the cost of axle grease
Betrayed so great an inclination
With every minute to increase
The scientist, in consternation
Remarked, "This fills me with dismay;
I must get busy right away
And substitute my substitution."

Concerning what we're getting now
My sentiments I shall not utter,
I'll merely state that anyhow
It's seventeen removes from butter.
But still the price my purse don't suit
And science, hunting a solution
Will substitute the substitute
That substitutes the substitution.

HARD LUCK.

These golden brown biscuit—you know the kind—flaky, golden, feathery—and so piping hot that the butter melts deliciously into the crisp halves—made with Every Day Milk.

You can make yours like these, too, if you have learned this new and better way of cooking with Every Day Milk. It is twice as rich as dairy milk and far cheaper than cream.

I found out that one bright tin of Every Day Milk had in it all the cream, all the butter-fat, all the nourishment of over a quart of rich milk. Only most of the water had been taken out, making it richer and creamier—nothing had been added.

Your children will grow strong on it—the family will want it in coffee—or on cereal—it is perfect for cooking—always handy—always fresh—always economical—always the same delicious cream-like flavor—"every day."
